WASHINGTON.

Woman's Right of Suffrage to be Tested in the Courts.

A Reminiscence of Seward's Alaska Purchase.

Condition of Life-Saving Stations on the New Jersey Coast.

Comparative Increase of Population in Europe and the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 25, 1871.

Attempt to Reconcile Republican Difficulties in New York.

Horace Greeley made a flying visit to the city yesterday and spent some time with Senator Sumner and Secretary Boutwell. It is said that the object of his mission here was to get Boutwell to use his influence with the President to have the Fenton faction recognized in New York. Unless this is done the philosopher regards the republican party in New York as gone up. Some of those who talked with Greeley while here represent him as strong against Grant's renomination. He thinks it is too soon for the party to commit itself to any man as candidate.

Inspection of Jersey Life Saving Stations.

Captain John Faunce, of the Revenue Marine Service, has been ordered by the Secretary of the Treasury to make a thorough inspection of the life saving stations on the coast of New Jersey and Long Island, and will leave here to-morrow, in accordance with this order, to examine into the condition of affairs on those coasts. Some weeks since a full account of the operations of the life saving stations on the coast of New Jersey was published in the HERALD, and at the same time the necessity for providing the surfmen with better accommodations and appliances was strongly recommended. An effort was made on the strength of that article by the people of New Jersey to induce Congress to make an appropriation sufficient to carry out the recommendations suggested. Congress, at its last session, proposed to appropriate $200,000 for the benefit of the life-saving stations on the coast of New Jersey, but upon the recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury the stations on the coast of Long Island were also included, and with this amendment the bill passed at the session of Congress just closed. While it is not available until the 1st of July next, the purpose of Secretary Boutwell in having the stations carefully inspected is to ascertain what improvements are actually needed, and in what way the $200,000 can best be apportioned among the different stations needing more efficient means to carry out the object for which they were established.

Interesting Suits Before the Court of Claims—A Reminiscence of Seward's Administration.

Two cases in the Court of Claims to-day attracted considerable attention. The first was the case of the late E. A. J. Atocha, in which he claimed damages for being unlawfully expelled from Mexico during one of the revolutions inaugurated in the country by Santa Anna. The claim was before the former Mexican Commission some years ago, but was not allowed. It then came into Congress and was referred to the Court of Claims. The compensation sought, if allowed, is to be paid out of a fund now in the possession of our government and received from Mexico. The trial was to take place to-day, but the Attorney General moved for a continuance, on the ground that further testimony was needful from Mexico. The Court granted the continuance.

The other case was the New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company versus the United States. This is a suit for a large amount of tolls on cable telegrams sent by the government to foreign governments during Mr. Seward's term of office as Secretary of State. A motion to continue the case was urged on the ground of the necessity of obtaining further evidence from Mr. Seward. The Court held the motion under advisement, and will decide it to-morrow. The amount claimed to be due is $32,240, the entire amount of the bill for ocean telegrams sent from November 10, 1866, to October 5, 1867, being $45,510 in coin. Included in the indebtedness is a despatch from Seward to Bigelow, $19,540 50, chargeable in gold, there being forty-eight words in English and 3,674 in cipher. The largest amount, apart from that just mentioned, paid in gold by the Department of State was for a despatch from Seward to Gortchakoff, St. Petersburg, about the Alaska treaty, numbering 1,833 words, and costing $3,885 50. It appears from the documents that Seward could not sanction the items for the unpaid telegrams upon any other principle than that those telegrams be paid for not as ciphers but as words. Peter Cooper, in his petition as president of the telegraph company, says the services were performed in the manner set forth, and the United States were bound by Seward's acts in their behalf, and should make payment for transmitting said messages by cable according to the tariff of charges then in existence, and which were posted in the telegraph office of the War Department, whence these messages were sent, and which tariff of charges was known to the Secretary of State at the time of sending the messages, and at the time of sending and paying for other messages similarly sent and charged in the accounts and paid for at the tariff rates as charged.

The English Tax on Friction Matches.

Commissioner Pleasanton to-day received a despatch from the Chancellor of the Exchequer at London, as follows:—

Please cable immediately how tax on friction matches works. Did imposition derange manufacture or check consumption? What yield this year?

General Pleasanton made the following reply:—

Right Hon. ROBERT LOWE, Chancellor of the Exchequer, London:—

Tax on friction matches works well. Manufacture not deranged nor consumption checked. Yield $2,000,000 per annum.

A. PLEASANTON, Commissioner.

The above telegraphic correspondence is the result of the recent proceedings in London, connected with the introduction of a bill in the British Parliament proposing a tax upon matches, reference to which was made in the cable despatches of this morning.

The Right of Women to Vote to Be Tested in the Courts.

To-day, in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, Mrs. Sarah J. Spencer and Miss Sarah E. Webster, two of the ladies refused registration at the recent election for delegate to Congress and members of the House of Delegates of the Territory of Columbia, entered suit by their attorneys, Messrs. Riddle and Miller, against the registers for refusing to enter their names on the lists of qualified voters. They lay their damages at five hundred dollars each, and the suits brought will be duly prosecuted with the view of finally testing their rights to citizenship before the Supreme Court.

Comparative Progress of Population in Europe and the United States.

The President, during the last session of Congress, in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, transmitted to that body the report of Samuel B. Ruggles, delegate from the United States to the International Congress at the Hague in the year 1869. It concludes as follows:—

PREFATORY TO PART SECOND OF THE REPORT ON THE COMPARATIVE PROGRESS OF POPULATION IN EUROPE AND IN THE UNITED STATES.

The preparation of this part of the report has been unavoidably delayed by the necessity of obtaining numerous statistics of the population of the various nations of Europe, not only at different periods, but frequently with boundaries largely changed, rendering the population tables of little value. It was also necessary to await the completion of the recent census of the United States in 1870 to show its progress in comparison with that of the States of Europe as a whole and also separately, and especially those who are to contribute in any considerable degree to the immigration into the United States. Reserving the full exhibition of these interesting particulars for a detailed report, it may now be stated in general that the rate of increase of the population of Europe during the century from 1770 to 1870 has varied but little from one per cent yearly, or ten per cent compounded at the end of every decade, having been largest in some of the earlier portions of the period, and diminishing with the last three or four decades until the present time, when it is but little more than six-tenths of one per cent yearly, compounded at the end of the decade. Its population in 1850 did not exceed 120,000,000. In view of the diminishing fecundity in marriages shown by the latter—4.4 in the United Kingdom and only 3.3 in France for each marriage—and the constantly increasing laxity and changing manners of the civilized world, the rate of increase of its population may very possibly continue to diminish, so that it would hardly be safe to assume, even for the United States, a greater ratio for the remainder of the present century from 1870 to 1900 than two and a half per cent yearly, and for Europe six-tenths of one per cent yearly, both to be compounded at the end of each decade. It should, however, be borne in mind that a largely increased and steadily continued flow of European or of Asiatic immigration into the United States may increase its population three or three and a half per cent per annum, or even a higher figure. At the moderate rates above specified, compounded every ten years, the population of Europe, amounting in 1870 to the aggregate of 298,000,000, at six-tenths of one per cent yearly, will be increased in the year 1900 to 354,917,680; that of the United States, now 38,554,870, estimated at 2½ per cent, to 75,302,495; estimated at 3 per cent, 81,705,019. Adopting the lowest of the preceding estimates for the United States for its population in 1900, being in round numbers 75,000,000, and reducing the rate of increase for the fifty years next succeeding to one per cent per annum, compounded at the end of every decade, and the rate of increase in Europe to one-half of one per cent yearly, similarly compounded, their comparative populations in 1950 would stand in round numbers as follows:—

Europe	453,000,000
The United States	120,500,000
Total	573,500,000

If the rate in the United States should be, as some suppose, as high as two per cent yearly, decennially compounded, the population in 1950 would be as high as 17[illegible],000,000. It should be understood that by the term "United States" is intended only the portion of America now possessed by the National Union. It should also be borne in mind that while the aggregate population of Europe and the United States may amount to or exceed 573,500,000, the proportionate amounts of each may largely vary with the varying volume of immigration. On the one hand, it is possible that the aggregate itself may be largely increased, especially if reliance can be placed on sanguine estimates heretofore made in official documents; while, on the other hand, it may be seriously diminished by war, pestilence or other unforeseen calamities. In respect, however, to any possible danger of general famine, it may be safely assumed that, with the cereal capacities of the United States now demonstrated by experience, its 75,000,000 inhabitants in 1900 will be fully able to supply cereal food sufficient not only for themselves, but for at least 250,000,000 of the population of Europe.

A Noble Fund for the Corcoran Art Gallery.

The claim of the trustees of the Corcoran Gallery of Art in this city for compensation for the use by the government of the property was referred by an act of Congress of May 24, 1870, to the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State. The building was occupied from August, 1861, to September, 1869, a period of eight years, and the amount claimed was $130,000. The commission appointed to ascertain and settle upon a fair and just compensation for the use of the ground and buildings have awarded the claimants $125,000. This amount will, in accordance with the deed of W. W. Corcoran conveying the property to the trustees, be devoted to an art fund for the purpose of adorning the gallery with the works of master artists.

Personal.

The sons of the British members of the Joint High Commission, together with some of the attachés, will give a ball on Friday night to their young lady and bachelor friends at the Philp mansion.

Mr. Mazel, the Netherlands Resident Minister, has been recalled from this country and appointed to another diplomatic post.

THE MISSISSIPPI CREVASSE.

The Break in the Levee at Bonnet Carre Unchanged—Crevasses at Several Points Stopped—Great Danger at Point Marion—New Orleans Secure from Inundation.

NEW ORLEANS, April 25, 1871.

Chief Engineer Thompson's official report says:—

By some unfortunate misconception of orders in regard to establishing a line of couriers from Kenneeville to Bonnet Carre crevasse nothing official has been heard up to nine o'clock to-night from that point. This is sure evidence that no great change for the worse has occurred.

Early to-morrow morning a party, consisting of Governor Warmoth, Mayor Flanders, President McComb, of the Jackson road, and other officials, will visit the crevasse.

Colonel Walton, Engineer of the Mexican Gulf Canal, and Captain Hitch, Assistant State Engineer, went up this evening on the steamer Lee.

It is said the people at Kennerville turned out to build themselves protection levees in the rear and around the town. The front levees have been repaired and strengthened, and the new levee on Tindeau's place is rapidly approaching completion.

Information was received this afternoon from the Superintendent of the Marero crevasse, just below the barracks. He says:—"I am happy to tell you we are getting along very well. I think by to-morrow we will have the whole work accomplished."

No direct news from Poverty Point crevasse has been received, which is favorable.

Yesterday Captain Smith reported he had plenty of materials, and expected soon to complete the work from the McDonough crevasse, in Plaquemine parish, on the right bank of the Mississippi.

Mr. Decker, in charge of the telegraph, has just come from the crevasse on Dr. Parmalee's place, and says that it can be conveniently closed with materials. These materials were sent this morning.

In a long official letter from Engineer Van Pelt, dated at half-past twelve yesterday morning, he says:—"The Grand and Morgan Sea levees are safe. I came down by land from New Texas to Hemitos Point. The Coupe levees are safe for this season. The crevasse at Point Marion is now between 200 and 250 feet wide, with about four feet of water at the bottom in front. Mr. Glynn commenced work on the levee on the 13th and the crevasse was broken on the 16th. He has taken all the force, except enough to keep the levee from breaking, to other places. I have just passed Evergreen levee. It will stand if the planters attend to it."

The rumors of a crevasse at Blue Stone, in Point Coupee and Bayou Sara are unfounded. The levees from Red river to these points are intact and the river is falling.

No interruption of telegraph communication has taken place on the Jackson Railroad. There is no water from Bonnet Carre crevasse nearer the city than thirteen miles. The river in front of the city is sixteen inches below high water mark of 1862 and falling.

General Thompson asserts that there is no danger of the city being overflowed.

NEW YORK CITY.

Warden Brennan, of Bellevue Hospital, by the aid of the HERALD, has succeeded in awakening an interest in his scholars, and yesterday received six handsome chromos—land and water scapes—to adorn the walls of the hospital wards.

Colonel B. T. Morgan, late superintendent of the city delivery, has been appointed Assistant Postmaster, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of William B. Taylor, and yesterday entered upon the discharge of the duties of his office.

The New York Society of Practical Engineering meet this (Wednesday) evening, in the Cooper Union. A paper will be read by Professor Plympton on "Original Experiments with Iron and Steel," and another by Leicester Allen, on "A New Mode of Determining the Dryness of Steam in Steam Boilers."

Daniel Kelly and William Dougherty, two well known car thieves, were arrested by some officers of the First precinct yesterday morning, at the corner of Broadway and Beaver street. They are two of a notorious gang of pickpockets who work the cars, and Judge Dowling sent them to the Island for six months.

A man named Patrick O'Sullivan, aged twenty-seven years, who was a butcher in Cherry street, was taken in a carriage to Bellevue on Wednesday last, suffering from severe internal pains. He stated that he had been wrestling with another man and had fallen violently, and believed he was severely injured. He lingered until Thursday, when he died. His friends applied at the Coroners' office for a certificate to bury the body, and denied all knowledge of the manner in which he was injured. A post-mortem examination showed that death was caused by rupture.

BRUTALLY BEATEN WITH A BAR OF IRON.

A dispute arose between Christian Smith, of 199 Broome street, New York, and Peter Monahan, Patrick Gillen and Patrick Devine, workmen employed at Valentine's iron foundry, corner of Imlay and Summit streets, Brooklyn, yesterday. During the trouble words waxed hot as the molten iron, and a cold bar of the latter heavy metal was seized by the three last named fellows, who laid it right rapidly over and upon the devoted cranium of Smith until he fell, insensible and bleeding from his wounds, at the feet of his brutal assailants. Seeing that they had accomplished their cowardly enterprise to a satisfactory degree, they "skedaddled," and have not since been found. A warrant was procured for their apprehension and the police are on the lookout for the scoundrels. Their victim had his wounds dressed and he was conveyed to his home.

GREAT FIRE AT PRINCETON.

Fourteen Horses Burned.

A tremendous fire occurred at Princeton, N. J., on Tuesday morning, about half-past one o'clock, in the stables of the Nassau Hotel. Fourteen horses were destroyed; four of them, the property of Mr. Bailey, were very valuable. The total loss is estimated at $7,000. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

BOUTWELL'S BUDGET.

Financial Operations of President Grant's Administration.

Figures Do Lie Sometimes, Especially Those of the Treasury Department.

It will not do to place any dependence whatever upon the official or semi-official statements of alleged facts put forth by the Treasury Department at Washington for the purpose of bolstering up the high tax policy of the administration. From time to time such statements are published as they are issued to let the people see the best that can be said for Secretary Boutwell; but, at the same time, as impartial journalists, it is proper to expose all the fallacies so pompously put forth.

We have been treated to several electioneering bulletins showing a wonderful reduction of the war taxes since the commencement of the present administration, amounting, we are informed, to about $80,000,000 per annum.

Now what are the facts? Let us examine the regular annual reports of the Secretary of the Treasury. The receipts from all sources for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1869, were as follows:—

Customs	$180,048,426
Internal revenue	158,356,460
Lands	4,020,344
Direct taxes	765,685
Miscellaneous	27,752,829
Total	$370,943,747

The receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870, were as follows:—

Customs	$194,538,374
Internal revenue	185,128,859
Lands	3,350,481
Miscellaneous	28,237,762
Total	$411,255,477
Previous year	370,943,747
Increase of tax	$40,311,730

Instead of a reduction of taxation we find that during the year ending the 30th of June last there was extorted from the people in the shape of taxes over $40,000,000 more than during the year previous; in fact, the exact increase was $40,311,730 42, very nearly $1,000,000 per week.

Let us come down six months later and see if matters mend. The receipts of the national government from all sources of taxation during the six months ending the 1st day of January last were $250,158,361 35. The receipts for the corresponding six months of the previous year were $199,245,722 19. It is plain, therefore, that there was no reduction of taxation up to the 1st day of January of the present year, but, on the contrary, a steady increase. Nor is the future any more hopeful.

It is estimated that the 30th of June next will show that there has been raised from all sources of taxation during the fiscal year that ends on that day $110,000,000 more than enough to pay all the expenses of the government, and the interest on our public debt for the year.

The unnecessary tax, or excess over and above the requirements of the government, has been about $100,000,000 per annum during the first two years of President Grant's administration. The extortion of the third year bids fair to be increased ten million dollars or more. And yet we have official bulletins and speeches without number showing a great decrease of taxation! The burden is rendered all the more grievous by the certain knowledge that the enormous amounts thus extorted are not properly used.

Some days ago the Treasury Department furnished the Washington correspondents with an official bulletin, which was telegraphed to the press all over the country. It stated that during the first two years of his administration President Grant had reduced our public debt $204,755,415 09, and thereby decreased our annual interest burden exactly "$11,537,461, mostly in gold."

Now, in fact, there is scarcely truth enough in the whole bulletin for a foundation. Where it is not wholly false the facts are distorted almost past recognition. The whole thing is a fraud upon the taxpayers.

The real truth is that up to the 5th inst., or during the first two years and one month of his administration, President Grant has, through his Secretary of the Treasury, extorted from the taxpayers, unnecessarily, over and above the requirements of the government the sum of $217,349,698, which has been expended in efforts to pay off our national debt before it became due, but which has been so badly managed that only about half that amount of the debt has really been paid.

Up to the present time only $125,027,600 of our national debt has actually been paid, and our annual interest burden has been decreased exactly $7,501,656—no more and no less. The money has been expended by Secretary Boutwell as follows:—

Premium on bonds bought	$23,522,948
Bonds bought for sinking fund	68,799,150
Bonds paid (special fund)	125,027,600
Money expended	$217,349,698

Only the amount of the special fund can be regarded as the paid up portion of the national debt. The bonds purchased for the special fund are at once destroyed, the interest stopped and the amount of the principal properly deducted from the public debt.

Every dollar, on the other hand, that is turned into the sinking fund largely increases our burden of taxation. It adds to our interest burden the difference between simple and compound interest, and practically doubles the principal.

During the past two years there has been paid from the National Treasury the sum of $6,849,750 interest on the sinking fund. In short, we have been paying something over three million dollars per year compound interest on the paid up portion of our national debt, the Treasury electioneering bulletins all the while informing us that the interest ceased the very instant the bonds were paid.

Secretary Boutwell informs us in his last monthly debt statement that he has paid $6,849,750 interest on the sinking fund.

On the other hand, Acting Secretary Richardson, in his official electioneering bulletin, dated Treasury Department, April 5, 1871, gives us to understand that the interest has ceased on all the bonds purchased, and that our interest burden has been reduced $11,537,461 per annum.

Mr. Boutwell is for once correct and Mr. Richardson in the wrong. The reduction of our interest burden is but $7,501,656 per annum, not $11,537,461, as he erroneously states. If the $217,349,698 that has been unnecessarily extorted from the taxpayers, and expended in the purchase of bonds, had been properly managed, the reduction of interest would have been six per cent in gold on the whole amount, or $13,040,981 88 per annum. Through vicious legislation and Executive mismanagement it falls short about half.

We have opposed from the first the policy of excessive taxation for the purpose of paying the national debt before it is due. If we could have had our own way the whole $217,000,000 that has been unnecessarily extorted from the taxpayers would now be in the channels of trade instead of the Treasury vaults, where it is so badly managed by Secretary Boutwell. We have characterized this extortion as the policy of the administration. President Grant has encouraged and sustained his finance minister in his opposition to every measure for the reduction of taxation. Had he exerted himself half as much for the reduction of our taxes as he did to forward the questionable scheme of annexing St. Domingo the oppressions complained of would have been long ago removed.

WARNING TO SHIPMASTERS.

Violation of the Quarantine Laws—Arrest of Two Captains who Attempted to Trick the Health Authorities—Their Punishment Justly Deserved.

It will be gratifying to the citizens of New York to learn that Health Officer Carnochan, through his vigilant subordinates, has commenced the present quarantine season of the port with the same commendable and characteristic energy he displayed in the management of this important post during last summer. That period was marked by a few designing shipmasters and not over honest merchants to whom their vessels were consigned by endeavors of divers type, yet parallel in the measure of their criminality, to evade and violate the quarantine laws having especial reference to the protection of the health and happiness of a million of people, and thus subject them to disease and death for meagre pecuniary gain, and had it not been for the assiduity, the unswerving purpose of Dr. Carnochan in combating these evil intentions the mind fails to comprehend the desolation that might have ensued in consequence.

The quarantine season of the port commences April 1, and each year due notice is given of the fact, yet to all shipmasters the story is a twice-told tale. They know the law in the case, or should, as well as they do their respective vessels; yet, notwithstanding all this, there are many captains possessed of such reckless disposition as to use every sailor trick that is vain in the endeavor to disregard it. Such was the case of the captains of two schooners that yesterday came to grief by just such sneering disrespect for righteous enactments, but the manner in which they were overhauled and taught that their peculiar games are not recognized as legitimate, will doubtless cause them to be more circumspect in the future. The little difficulty was this:—

Captain Harvey Robinson, of the schooner Tilly, from Tangier, Va., and Captain Studams, of the schooner Caroline Krenzle, from Georgetown, D. C., both bound to Bridgeport, Conn., entered this port Monday last, and with their vessels sneaked up to the city under the Brooklyn shore, without submitting to an examination by the health authorities. It was evident from their manner of operating they imagined they had weathered the vigilance of the lynx-eyed officials and chuckled accordingly, but the result of this marine diplomacy did not justify much merriment. A steamboat was despatched after them and the vessels were taken back to the Quarantine anchorage. Officer Norman, of the Quarantine Police, arrested their captains, and yesterday they were taken before Judge Garrett, of the Edgewater Police Court, to answer the charge of attempting to evade the health laws. Both the prisoners pleaded guilty to the officer's complaint, but submitted in defence that they were ignorant of the law. As it was their first offence the Court took a lenient view of the case and fined them twenty-five dollars each, but warned them that any future attempt to violate the laws in question would be more severely dealt with. The full penalty in cases of this character is a fine of $1,000 and twelve months imprisonment, quite enough, no doubt, to deter these or like disposed salt water gentlemen from repeating the offence.

MURDERED WITH A RUNG.

A Jocular Remark Leads to a Quarrel That Ends in Murder—The Victim and His Alleged Murderer—Evil Effects of Beer and Banter.

A murder of an extraordinary character occurred in Williamsburg yesterday morning, the victim being John Gass, the proprietor of a lager beer saloon and boarding house at No. 39 Division avenue, and his supposed murderer, John Connors, a member of engine No. 12, Brooklyn Fire Department. Previous to the tragedy there was a quarrel between Gass and Connors in the dining saloon of Alanson Eckley, in Grand street, near the ferry, the quarrel originating in a joke perpetrated by Connors that was harmless in itself.

It appears that there is in the saloon mentioned a powerful Maltese cat, a pet of the waiters and other employés of the saloon, that has achieved some celebrity for fighting and beating away any dog that happens to enter the place. Lately it became a standing joke among those who visited the saloon, they often saying to the waiters that they knew of a dog that could beat their cat. When John Connors went there yesterday morning he addressed one of the waiters, saying, "I have

A DOG THAT CAN LICK YOUR CAT."

At that time John Gass and his friend Carlo Smith were sitting at a table discussing an oyster stew, and Gass, thinking that the remark was addressed to him, said to Connors, "You cannot lick me, nor one side of me," or words to that effect. Connors, who was apparently in liquor, as were also Gass and Smith, talked back, and after a few words Gass jumped up and struck him, giving him a black eye by the blow.

THE MEN CLINCHED,

and after a struggle between them Connors left the saloon, and meeting officer Keyser asked him to arrest Gass for assaulting him. The officer told him that he could not do so, as he had not witnessed the assault, but advised him to go with him to the station house and make a complaint there. Connors agreed to do so, and accompanied the officer some distance, but finally concluded that he would make no complaint. The officer then left him, and nothing more was heard of the difficulty until about an hour or so afterwards, when the police were notified that a man was assaulted in First street, near South Second street, three or four blocks from the saloon alluded to, and on repairing to the point indicated they found Gass lying on the sidewalk in an insensible condition,

HIS SKULL BEING FRACTURED

by a blow from behind with a cart rung. He was immediately removed to the Fourth street station house, and was attended by Police Surgeon Creamer. He was then sent to his home, where he continued in an insensible state until nine o'clock, when he expired.

THE ACCUSED.

The police, having been notified of the death of Gass, arrested Connors and Smith, and they are detained to await the action of Coroner Whitehill, who ordered a post mortem examination to be held. The inquest will probably be held to-morrow evening in Justice Voorhees' court room.

John Connors, or "Long John," as he is familiarly called by his acquaintances, is represented to be a quiet and unassuming young man of previous good character, and none who know him believe that he was capable of committing the evidently premeditated murder for which he is held to answer. He made no attempted to escape from the police. On the contrary, when he heard that he was suspected of the murder he started toward the police station to surrender himself, and was arrested while on his way. Gass is represented to have been a genial and kind-hearted man when sober, but when under the influence of beer passionate and quarrelsome. He was a native of Germany, and leaves a wife and three children in good circumstances.

Smith, the companion of Gass when he received his death-blow, says that all he knows of the occurrence is that while he and Gass were on their way home a man came behind them and struck Gass on the back of the head with a cart rung, and when Gass fell the man ran one way, and he (Smith), fearing that he would also be assaulted, ran away in another direction. He is unable to say what kind of man the murderer is, and has no knowledge of his size or general appearance. He was so scared, indeed, according to his own story, that he fell twice while running away.

OBITUARY.

Emile Deschamps.

Our special correspondent in Paris reports the death, at Versailles, on Sunday last, of Deschamps, the French poet. We are somewhat uncertain whether the deceased is Emile or his brother Antoine, as both are or were poets of eminence. Nevertheless we venture to suppose that Emile is the one referred to, as his reputation so far exceeds and overshadows that of his brother that he is the one generally referred to when "Deschamps, the poet," is spoken of.

Emile Deschamps was born in Bourges on the 20th of February, 1791. He received a brilliant education at Paris, and on terminating his studies at the early age of fourteen gave evidence of possessing the genius which, in after years, made his name famous. In 1812 he composed a patriotic ode, entitled "La Paix Conquise," which attracted the attention of the first Napoleon. About this time he employed his time in aiding his father in the management of his property. On the return of the Bourbons the young man, who hated them intensely, manifested his animosity, not only by his verses, but by bringing down the police upon him for going to the fortifications of Vincennes and offering, in the name of the people, a poem in honor of General Daumesnil. The annoyance to which he was subjected he revenged with some sharp verses. It was not, however, till 1818 that Deschamps really began his literary career. He had, up to that time, made little reputation. The prose articles he had written were not of any importance, and his verses were scattered in the pages of the periodicals, admired each by a little circle of readers, but unnoticed by the masses. During 1818, however, he produced, in literary partnership with M. Latouche, two comedies, entitled "Selmours de Florian" and "Le Tour de Faveur," which were performed more than one hundred times, and which gave to Casimir Delavigne his idea of the "Comédiens."

Soon after Deschamps took part in the great struggle between the classical and the romantic schools of literature, standing in the front rank among the innovators. He founded and directed, with Victor Hugo, de Vigny, Nodier and others, La Muse Française, in which he inserted several morceaux of poetry, remarkable for their grace of expression, and some literary prose articles, which he signed Le Jeune Moraliste, and of which a biographer says that their wit did not destroy their reasoning. These articles were collected in 1826 and published under the title of "Le Jeune Moraliste du XIXme Siècle." His "Etudes Françaises et Etrangères," appeared in 1829. One of his most noteworthy performances was his translation of "The Bell," of Schiller, which had been declared untranslatable, and the piece of the "Romances sur Rodrigue." M. Deschamps also made his name popular by his attacks on the reviews, and by some novels and some criticisms, all of which were favorably received by the public. Among these were "Appartement à Louer," "Une Matinée aux Invalides," "Paul René," "Mea Culpa," &c.

He gave equally to all the journals his literary productions. All of his writings are noticeable for their finish and elegance. He also did much work in the way of writing prefaces to the lives of authors, and was the most kind hearted and serviceable of French men of letters, ever extending a helping hand to young debutants in literature. Without counting "Ivanhoé," an anonymous opera in prose, and the libretto of "Stradella," written for Niedermayer, a great number of Deschamps' poetical compositions have been set to music by the masters of his day, such as Rossini, Bellini, la Malibran, &c. In 1834 he translated, with M. Blaze, the poem of "Don Juan," and it is said that he aided M. Scribe in writing the "Huguenots."

Among his other works are translations of "Romeo and Juliet" and "Macbeth," these two dramas, with prefaces and commentaries, forming the first volume of the edition of his works. His "Poésies des Crèches," published in 1852, contains a collection of fugitive verses. One of his finest pieces is that composed on the occasion of the birth of the Prince Imperial. He also made numerous translations from Sir Walter Scott, Shakspeare and other English authors.

If M. Deschamps cannot rank among the great poets of the world, his position is very little behind them. His verses are notably sweet and elegant, displaying true poetic genius combined with mental culture. Of late years he seldom wrote. Age had crept upon him, and though his mind remained as clear as ever and could grasp the beautiful and weave it into charming verses, his physical strength was almost broken and he was compelled to avoid the fatigues of labor as much as possible. But the works he has left behind will live many years after him, and will hold no obscure place in the literature of France.

J. Monroe Campbell.

A despatch from Cairo, Ill., announces that J. Monroe Campbell, contractor of the Normal University building at Carbondale, while superintending the hoisting of material at the building on Monday last, was struck by some falling joists, and died from the injuries he received. Mr. Campbell was well known in this city as a cotton factor, and was at one time the heaviest cotton operator in New York. His operations were so extensive that during one year he is said to have controlled a larger proportion of the cotton crop than any single individual had or has ever controlled. He was of comparatively humble origin, but rose by his own unaided exertions to affluence.

THE PRESIDENT IN ST. LOUIS.

He Declines a Public Reception—His Visit Entirely Private—Visit to the Carondelet Iron Works—Entertained by Henry T. Blow—The President's Departure for Lafayette, Ind.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 25, 1871.

President Grant and his private secretary, General Porter, since their arrival here have been cordially and quietly received, having refused a public banquet, which was tendered them. The President has been the guest of William H. Benton, a wealthy private citizen and an old acquaintance.

Yesterday the party, accompanied by a dozen prominent officials and politicians, visited several of the noted farms in the vicinity of the city, especially that of the President's, which contains five hundred acres, and with the improvements is valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

In the evening public levees were held at Mr. Benton's, and at Indian Commissioner Robert Campbell's, where several hundred of the prominent citizens called upon the President.

This morning, through the courtesy of Thomas Allen, President of the Iron Mountain Railroad, President Grant and a party of fifty invited guests, one-third being democrats, visited the famous iron furnaces at Carondelet, eight miles south of St. Louis. The party spent several hours in examining the works and witnessing the process of manufacturing the metal at the Vulcan Works, which was decorated by a thousand flags and crowded with citizens of the vicinity.

The party was entertained in seeing a discharge of twenty tons of molten iron.

After the examination of the various establishments the company were invited to the residence of Henry T. Blow, late Minister to Brazil, who lives near Carondelet. A magnificent dinner was provided, to which ample justice was done by all. The President entered freely into conversation with every one present, and all were pleasantly entertained. President Grant was called upon for a speech, and appointed Mr. Blow as proxy, who spoke upon the iron interest of Missouri, its growth and future development, and its need of governmental encouragement. He especially claimed that a protective tariff, fixed and permanent, upon iron importations is necessary for the further development of the resources of Missouri.

Mr. James B. Eads, engineer of the Illinois and St. Louis bridge, was called and briefly referred to that mammoth enterprise and its importance to the West. Late in the evening the party returned to St. Louis, and a levee was held at Mr. Benton's until the President, at ten o'clock, took the Wabash and Toledo Railroad to Lafayette, Ind., where he spends a few hours prior to returning to Washington.

This visit to St. Louis was solely upon private business connected with his real estate interests here.

He will spend ten days in this city on his return from the proposed visit to the Pacific in September.

AMUSEMENTS.

BOOTH'S.—"A WINTER'S TALE."—Robert Greene's old pastoral romance, "A Pleasant Historie of Dorastus and Faunia," would hardly be recognized in the delightful creation of Shakspeare, "A Winter's Tale," which combines in itself all the absorbing and entrancing elements of the tales of the "Arabian Nights," with a Rubens-like painting of opposite characters and contending passions such as only the great master could portray. Everything seems to brought together in this play to produce an harmonious as well as kaleidoscopic effect. It is essentially a play of strong contrasts, but even these contrasts are made to contribute to the harmony of the structure. "A Winter's Tale" was produced at Burton's theatre, December 22, 1851, with Dyott as Leontes and Mrs. Warner as Hermione. Hence, twenty years have almost passed until its revival. This length of time makes it a decided novelty to the general public, and the fact that scenic preparations for it commenced with the first opening of Booth's theatre made it also a subject of much special comment and interest. After two years of preparation and long and thorough rehearsals, the first performance took place last night. The cast was the following:—

Sicilians—Leontes, King of Sicilia, Mr. Lawrence Barrett; Mamillius, his son, Miss Susie Glassford; Camillo, cup bearer to Polyxenes, Mr. A. W. Fenno; Antigonus, an old lord, Mr. D. C. Anderson; Hermione, Mrs. Ada Clifton Mollenhauer; Perdita, her daughter, Miss Bella Pateman; Paulina, wife to Antigonus, Miss Mary Wells; Emelia, Miss Livingston; Lamia, Miss Vultee; Hero, Miss Cave; Aspasia, Miss Whitlock.

Bohemians—Polyxenes, Mr. W. E. Sheridan; Florizel, Mr. A. Pitou; Archidamus, Mr. H. Hogan; The Old Shepherd, Mr. C. Deuel; The Clown, his son, Mr. R. Pateman; Autolycus, a rogue and a pedler, Mr. Mark Smith.

Owing to the extreme length of the first night's performance of such a play, and the impossibility of giving the various details the necessary smoothness and attention, we cannot now present a carefully considered criticism of the acting, but will defer it until another performance shall be given. The scenery, mounting and accessories are fully up to the promises of the management and the expectations of the public. The first scene is the vestibule of a Sicilian palace, with a distant view of Mount Etna and the Bay of Syracuse, and the second scene, a grand banqueting hall. The second act opens with the Queen's boudoir and closes with a prison scene. The interior of the theatre of Syracuse takes up the third act, and the fourth is occupied with the wilds of Bohemia. The magnificent statue scene of the last act is too well known to need comment. The incidental songs and dances give a pleasing variety to this romantic story. The house was crowded last night, and the frequent applause testified the appreciation of the public and gave Mr. Booth encouragement to hope in the success of his liberal enterprise.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—ORPHEONIST SPRINGTIDE FESTIVAL.—Mr. Jerome Hopkins gave his annual Springtide festival last night before a rather large audience. He was assisted by Miss Cassie Renz, soprano; Mr. Albert Lawrence, baritone; Mlle. Zephyrine, pianist; a select body of Orpheon singers and a small orchestra. The programme, besides many classical works, contained works by Jerome Hopkins, Bassford and Anthony Reiff, Jr. The most interesting feature was the superb rendering of "Caro Nome," from "Rigoletto," by Miss Renz, in which she sang up to G sharp in alt (with head voice, of course), every note being clear and well defined. Her voice is of superior quality to the generality of American soprani, but its cultivation is of the most limited description. Mr. Hopkins deserves much credit for his energy and perseverance in making these deserving schools of the Orpheons a success.

Barney Williams.

The immortal Barney, in whose veins flows the blood of Brian Boroimhe, and who has been, par excellence, the exponent of Hibernian drama for over a third of a century, leaves America in the Scotia next week with his talented and accomplished wife for a long period of absence. English managers have at length prevailed upon Barney to cross the Atlantic and quit for a time the scene of his greatest triumphs. With Florence, the Bob Brierly and Obenreiser of the age, and Mrs. Florence, who shares her sister's popularity, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will bid adieu to the shores of the great republic and vanish in the London fog, to the regret of their myriad friends and admirers. The following correspondence explains itself:—

THE INVITATION.

NEW YORK, April 4, 1871.

BARNEY WILLIAMS, Esq.:—

DEAR SIR—Understanding that you intend leaving for Europe on the 3d prox., the undersigned, some of your many friends and well-wishers, desire to testify their appreciation of your worth as a citizen and the generous sympathy always extended by you and your estimable lady to the needy and suffering of your profession, by a complimentary testimonial benefit at the Academy of Music in this city, on some evening to be specified by you when we can have an opportunity of giving you and Mrs. Williams a hearty and farewell greeting. Yours, very faithfully,

A. Oakey Hall, John T. Hoffman, John R. Brady, Henry C. Murphy, Charles E. Loew, William Cauldwell, Siro Delmonico, H. W. Genet, J. Townsend Connolly, M. T. Brennan, Peter B. Sweeny, D. Quinn, Hugh Smith, Wm. C. Traphagen, Richard B. Connolly, Nathaniel Jarvis, Jr., William M. Tweed, Thomas J. Creamer, Charles P. Daly, William Hitchman, F. W. Loew, Thomas C. Fields, Michael Connolly, Joseph Dowling, Robert C. Hutchings, John Hoey, Albert Cardozo, John Brougham, John J. Bradley, Michael Norton, Lester Wallack, W. J. Florence.

THE REPLY.

GENTLEMEN—Never have I been impressed with a keener sense of gratitude than on the present occasion, when my wife and myself have received from you so kindly a communication, when we are about to quit the land so thoroughly endeared to us by our artistic success as it is on her part by blood, on mine by adoption, and consequently in both by the ennobling pride of nationality. I may candidly say that your letter only adds another long catalogue of kindnesses invariably received by Mrs. Williams and myself from your hands. However, it is unavoidable that I should decline it. In quitting our country for so long a period, the business necessarily imposed upon Mrs. Williams and myself occupies our time so thoroughly that we should be unable either to do justice to ourselves or the warm kindness of our friends. May I therefore trust that in the sorrow of our parting from you, without a word of adieu upon the mimic scene, where you have so often applauded our efforts, you will give us a God speed, and with an ardent desire to return to our friends whose appreciation and regard we so highly value. Gentlemen, I have the honor to subscribe myself, yours, very truly, B. WILLIAMS.

WESTERN NAVIGATION.

A New Route for Trans-Mississippi Products—Water Communication with the Lakes.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 25, 1871.

The steamer Lumberman made a trip from Oshkosh, Wis., to Prairie du Chien, via the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, in sixty hours. She found good water the whole route. Should canal communication be opened to the lakes, this will form an important water communication from the Mississippi river east.

Important and Interesting News from Panama.

Wonderful Discovery of Coal and Oil Near Aspinwall—Another Revolution in Colombia—The State of Chiriqui in an Uproar—Panama Threatened—The War Between Salvador and Honduras Ended—Complete Defeat of the Latter—Earthquakes on the South Pacific Coast.

ASPINWALL, April 21, Via KINGSTON, Jam., April 25, 1871.

A wonderful discovery has been made of coal mines and oil wells thirty miles from Aspinwall. The mines are reported to be inexhaustible, and the coal is said to be of a superior quality, equal even to the best imported. The government has given to the discoverer an immense tract of land.

The rains are heavy, and the heat is excessive.

There is another revolution in Chiriqui, and this time Tomas Herrera is the leader. Six hundred revolutionists have proclaimed him President. The insurgents recently captured the American steamer Montijo. The United States steamer Rescue has gone to recover her. The insurgents also captured the town of Las Tavlas and made prisoners of the garrison. President Correso escaped from the citadel. Panama has been fortified, because of apprehensions of an attack on the city by the insurgents. The impressments for the government service caused quite a riot in Panama, but quiet now prevails.

Advices from Bogota state that forty houses in Villa Valencia were destroyed by a conflagration.

The war between San Salvador and Honduras is ended. The former holds the territory of the latter, having defeated the army of Honduras everywhere. General Hatruch has been made Provisional President. Intrenchments are constructed in the streets of the capital, from which the chief families have fled. San Miguel was captured by the allied rebel forces of Honduras. Hatruch's army, it is reported, has been decoyed into the mountains of Honduras and their retreat cut off.

Several earthquakes have recently taken place on the South Pacific coast.

The Indians of Terra del Fuego murdered the captain and three sailors of the brig Propontis while in the Straits of Magellan.

The Araucanian Indians are preparing for a general attack on the settlements. Two raids have already been made, in which several persons were killed and a number of women were carried off.

Chile and Peru have granted the necessary concession demanded by Mr. Leigh, preliminary to laying the telegraph cable connecting those two countries.

A company has been formed to run steamships between Callao and China. All the stock is subscribed.

Later information greatly increases the amount of the losses caused by the overflow of the rivers of Peru.

Additional Intelligence—Exciting Elections in Bogota—Progress of the Nicaragua Railroad—English Seamen Murdered by Indians—Valparaiso Shaken by an Earthquake.

ASPINWALL, April 21, Via KINGSTON, Jam., April 25, 1871.

Advices from Bogota to the 23th ult. state that the elections are exciting the people, and everybody seems anxious to become a deputy.

There are dates from Nicaragua to the 25th ult. A survey was completed of the railroad to connect Lake Nicaragua with Masaya.

News has been received from Punta Arenas of a terrible tragedy near that place. The captain of the British ship Alexandrina and a boat's crew went ashore and came in conflict with the Indians, who murdered them. The Indians then put off in canoes for the vessel; but those on board, alarmed by the yells of the natives, made sail and saved themselves and ship. The body of the captain has been found. There were two wounds on the body and the legs were cut off. No trace has been found of his companions. An English war steamer is expected to go the scene of the tragedy and chastise the Indians.

Dates from Baranquilla of the 17th ult. announce the capture of the robbers who stopped the mail near that place and took the treasure. They confessed their guilt, and informed the authorities where the treasure might be found.

The announcement is made from Valparaiso, Chili, of the 3d ult., that the "foot and mouth" cattle disease, which has prevailed so extensively lately, is disappearing.

A severe shock of earthquake was felt at Valparaiso. As the the noise which generally precedes the earthquake was heard thousands of people ran into the streets terror stricken. The walls of churches were cracked, while the services were holding, and a panic seized the congregations. The steeple of the Church of St. Augustine was knocked out of plumb, and may have to be taken down.

JERSEY CITY POLICE COMMISSION.

The Guillotine Again at Work—No Irish Need Apply.

The Police Commissioners of Jersey City held another meeting last evening and the guillotine was again brought into requisition. Sergeant Bryan Harney, after twelve years' police service, was unceremoniously dismissed, and a "walking gauger" on the Cunard dock, who never even handled a baton, was appointed in his place. Jersey City never produced a better police officer than Harney. His case, however, is not worse than that of Sergeant Jarvis Ayres, who has been in police service in the city for nearly twenty years. He was never disturbed during all the political changes in the city, and though one of the most efficient officers, and yet in the vigor of life, he was reduced to the ranks. Captain Jordan and Sergeant Farrelly were placed under the axe the very first night of the removals. Jordan was formerly Chief of Police, and had not a stain on his record. Were the office of chief elective, as of old, he would be the choice of the people by an overwhelming majority. Farrelly was also an excellent officer; but then he was an Irishman, and the fiat had gone forth that the Irishmen on the force, or a majority of them, were doomed. Roundsman Singleton, who had only recently been promoted for meritorious services, was the next on the proscribed list. Then came Doyne, Captain Robinson, Sergeant O'Connell and several others, all, with three or four exceptions, being Irishmen.

At a late meeting petitions were presented from several prominent citizens asking for the appointment of certain men on the police force. Among the petitions was one signed by Messrs. Wolbert, Fitzpatrick and Brann asking for the appointment of two or three Irishmen. All the petitions were received in silence and ordered to lie on the table, but when the latter came up one of the Commissioners (Edmondson) remarked, snappishly, "I wonder they do not ask for all the appointments." Mayor O'Neill has become so thoroughly disgusted with the acts of the Commission that he has made up his mind to adhere to his promise of withdrawing from all further participation in the meetings. All the prominent men in the republican party, without an exception, condemn the proceedings of this junta, which they say will bring irretrievable disaster on the republican party next fall. The ingratitude of this conclave towards the Irishmen, without whose support last fall the republican party could not obtain power, is also severely commented upon. In the meantime all the factions into which the democracy were split up are becoming reconciled, and there is a growing determination on the part of those democrats who raised the republicans to power last fall to drive them out next fall. This consolidation of the democracy is due entirely to the high-handed and outrageous proceedings of the Police Commission.

A BANK JOSTLER.

A Push for Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars in Treasury Notes.

Isaac Lawrence, of "no place, no where," was arrested yesterday morning and taken before Judge Dowling, at the Tombs, charged by Henry H. Smith, No. 8 James street, with stealing $250 in currency from his person. Smith had just drawn the amount from the Tradesmen's Bank, corner of Reade street and Broadway, and was leaving with it in a pocketbook placed in his inside coat pocket, when he met the prisoner on the stoop of the bank. The latter came up to him, in company with two other men, and "jostled" him. At the same time he felt a pull at his inside coat pocket. He grasped the sleeve of the prisoner's coat and held it, but it was too late to save the money. The hand which had stolen the money was withdrawn too quickly. On being arraigned Lawrence was recognized as being one of an organized gang who live by this branch of the profession, their organization being of the most secret, yet most successful kind. He was held to answer at the General Sessions, in default of $2,000 bail.

PROBABLE MURDER.

Three boys, living in Cherry street, while playing about the dock foot of pier 29 East river, yesterday morning, discovered the body of an unknown man, about thirty-five years of age, floating in the water, and, making it fast, notified the Seventh precinct police. On lifting the body from the water a wound was discovered on the back of the head, but whether it was received before or after death remains to be determined by a post-mortem examination, which will be made by Dr. Marsh at the Morgue. Coroner Young has the case in charge. Deceased was five feet eight inches in height, with black hair and whiskers, and was dressed in dark clothes.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The Erie Ledger.

Before Kenneth G. White, Master.

Heathfield Ryker vs. The Erie Railway Company.—A definite stage in this protracted litigation, so far as the proceedings before the master appointed by the Court to take testimony is concerned, was reached yesterday. The following certificate was signed by Mr. White and will be submitted to the court for its action upon the case to-day:—

I, Kenneth G. White, the master named in the order made herein on the 11th day of March last, do hereby certify to the Court that in the course of the execution of said order of reference I found and determined that it was necessary for the due execution of said order that there should be produced before me by the Erie Railway Company, or its officers having charge thereof, certain books and documents described in the summons or order hereunto annexed signed by me and dated 8th April instant, the existence of which books and documents in the possession of the Erie Railway Company appeared in the evidence before me, and I thereupon issued such summons or order requiring such production, and the same was duly served upon the Erie Railway Company and Jay Gould, its president, and Horatio N. Otis, its secretary, as appeared by the affidavit of such service filed with me, all of which are hereunto annexed. And I further certify that said order has not been in any way complied with by the said company or by the said Gould or the said Otis, and there has been an entire failure on their part respectively to produce before me such books and documents or any part thereof according to my said order and directions. That said Horatio N. Otis, the secretary of said company, appeared before me and upon oath denied that he had any possession or control of said books and documents or any part thereof; that the said Jay Gould, the President of the Erie Railway Company, also appeared before me, under said summons and under a subpœna requiring his personal attendance, and although he admitted that he had general control of the books of said company, and although it appeared that such books and documents were in the actual charge of the employes of the company, who would obey his directions as president to bring and produce the same before me, if he would give such directions, or to produce or cause to be produced before me said books or papers or any of them, although I required him to do so, as well by personal oral directions as by the said summons, the only excuse by him given therefor being a doubt he professed to entertain as to his right as president, under the articles of association or charter of the company, to produce or direct the production of such books and papers before me as so required of him.

Mr. Lane, one of the defendants, but who yesterday appeared as one of counsel for the company, asked for a modification of the certificate by striking out the words "order of reference." He did not consider the matter as under a reference.

The Master—If it is not an order of reference you can obtain justice from the court.

Counsel Lane then asked for another modification of the certificate by striking out the words "requiring his (Gould's) personal attendance" "the books were in actual charge of the employes of the company." Counsel also asked to have the following clause added:—"I further certify that the annexed is a faithful copy of the evidence taken before me in this matter, and on which this certificate is made."

The master said he thought the wording of the certificate was warranted by the evidence and declined to modify or add to the certificate as asked for by counsel. Mr. Gould has, he says, declined to produce before me the books of which he has actual control or to direct their production before me. There are no misstatement of facts in the certificate, and the evidence upon which it is founded can be laid before the Court, and if there are any mistakes in the rulings or otherwise they can be corrected.

The master having signed the certificate, &c., the case stands over for directions from the Court.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

An Extradition Order Granted.

Before Commissioner White.

Gustav Adolph B—rien, arrested a week ago on a charge of having forged the name of his father-in-law to two bills—one for 1,000 and the other for 2,000 thalers, at Bretnig—was brought before Commissioner White yesterday for final examination. It appeared from the evidence that his father-in-law gave him two notes, one for 1-0 and the other for 200 thalers, and that he added a cipher to each, thus increasing the amounts, and the notes were cashed. The Commissioner ordered his extradition.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.

Verdict of Damages Against a City Railroad Company.

Before Judge Freedman.

Ann Elizabeth Myron vs. The Third Avenue Railroad Company.—The plaintiff, an old lady, while getting on one of the defendants' cars, at the corner of William and Chatham streets, was injured in one foot by the car starting too soon. She brought suit, claiming $5,000 damages. The jury gave her a verdict for $350. The trial lasted two days.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART 2.

An Interesting Sheriff Suit, Embracing Sundry Interesting Points.

Before Judge McCunn.

Klinck vs. Kelly, Sheriff.—In the fall of 1866 the firm of Folger & Tibbs opened a wholesale dry goods store at No. 54 Leonard street, and it is alleged that in about four months they succeeded in accumulating an aggregate of some $260,000 indebtedness, with growing uneasiness on the part of their numerous creditors. The plaintiff was one of the creditors, and took measures to secure a debt owing to him. Coming to New York, where he arrived on Sunday, he found the stock of goods in possession of the Sheriff, under an attachment of $11,000. During Sunday he talked the subject over with the firm, and they agreed to sell him the goods and he to pay the attachment. This agreement, so as not to violate the Sabbath, was consummated after midnight, but it was necessary to wait till after the banks opened before the money could be procured. By eight o'clock A. M. other attachments came pouring in, exceeding largely the value of the goods. This put a new aspect on the case. The Sheriff's representative, who had previously expressed his willingness to give up possession of the goods on the payment of the $11,000 attachment, now refused to do so unless all the attachments were paid. After a while the goods were sold under execution in the attachment suits. The plaintiff brought suit against the Sheriff for the value of the goods placed at $45,000. It was insisted on his behalf that he became owner of the goods through the agreement of their transfer to him on his paying the $11,000 attachment. The Court held that he never had such possession as to entitle him to sue in trover or trespass, and, therefore, ordered dismissal of the complaint.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Discharge of the Grand Jury.

In consequence of the absence of Recorder Hackett yesterday, occasioned by indisposition, District Attorney Garvin requested the attendance of Judge Loew, of the Common Pleas, to preside. The Grand Jury came into court, and, having completed their labors, Judge Loew, in discharging them, said he understood from the District Attorney that they had discharged a great deal of business in a very able and efficient manner, for which they were entitled to the thanks of the Court and of the community at large.

The Court will sit this morning.

COURT OF SPECIAL SESSIONS.

An Important Day—Criminal Cliques Corrected.

Before Judges Dowling and Shandley.

Thirty-seven cases have accrued for trial—in petty cases—since Saturday last, and were presented to the Court of Special Sessions yesterday morning for disposal by the sitting magistrates.

The first case of public interest was that of Henry Armstrong against John Hennessy, an accomplice of a party of thieves who had concocted a scheme to rob the steam cars up at Dobbs' Ferry on an occasion when they had learned that a large amount of money and a quantity of valuable merchandise were to be freighted to New York from the country. Hennessy, the prisoner, went to an appointed rendezvous, where he expected to be entrusted with a part of the booty. He had not heard of the of their plans and the shooting of his friends. He was watched afterwards, and from something he said suspicion was awakened that he was concerned in the contemplated robbery. His arrest was consequently ordered.

Armstrong, who arrested him, testified that he used no violence whatever, but simply asked Hennessy to accompany him to the station house for the purpose of disproving, if he could, the assertions made with reference to his connection with the "robbery." When the defendant was asked why he acted in such a cowardly and brutal manner he merely hung down his head and uttered some unintelligible monosyllable.

The Court—You are a cowardly and inhuman fellow. The officer did not violate you in any way, yet you first tried to blind him, and failing in that you attempted to take his life. You admitted that you had and this Court is of opinion you ought never to have left that establishment. You will now go to prison for twelve calendar months and be fined $100; the imprisonment to continue after the first year until the fine is paid. The prisoner, who is a good looking young man, apparently not more than twenty-three years of age, on hearing the sentence haughtily raised his head again, and after surveying the audience and the judges, walked quietly over the "bridge of sighs."

SERVED THREE YEARS IN THE STATE PRISON,

Judgments reversed and new trials granted, with costs to abide the event—Lucky vs. Gannon; Newhouse vs. Weymart.

Judgment reversed and judgment ordered for the defendant, with costs—Weed vs. Barney.

Judgment reversed as to the costs of the appeal to the General Term, and the judgment modified by reducing the damages received by the plaintiff to fifty-seven dollars, with interest thereon from May 1, 1866, and as modified affirmed, without costs in this court to either party—Smiths vs. The City of Rochester.

Orders affirmed, with costs—Ellsworth vs. Gardner; The Commercial Warehouse Company of New York vs. Graber.

Appeal dismissed, without cost—Donnelly vs. Libby.

CALENDAR FOR WEDNESDAY.

The following is the Court of Appeals day calendar for April 26:—Nos. 266, 203, 205, 211, 213, 214, 203, 215.

BROOKLYN BURGLARS' BENEFIT.

The "small fry" burglars of Brooklyn took a benefit at an early hour yesterday morning, at No. 49 Main street, at the expense of Henry Schwartz, a dealer in ready made clothing. The entrance to the store was effected from Stewart's alley, in the rear, and by that means of egress $300 worth of pants, vests, coats, &c., were carried off, the police know not whither. The robbery was not discovered until the chagrined proprietor opened the store at seven o'clock in the morning.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WALL STREET, TUESDAY, April 25—6 P. M.

On 'Change to-day wheat was inactive, and, on the prospect of increased receipts by the opening of the canals, heavy. The cotton market was better and firm.

MONEY FOUR TO SEVEN PER CENT.

Early in the day there was considerable hesitation among money lenders owing to the decline in prices at the Stock Exchange, which led to closer scrutiny of collaterals and some shifting of loans. Borrowers, who were unwilling to take the chances of a more active market, later in the day supplied themselves at seven per cent, but found accommodation plentiful at this rate. At the regular time for making engagements, however, the rate on stocks proved to be six per cent, with some exceptions at five per cent. On governments there was a pressure to lend at five per cent, and many borrowers on this class of security provided for their wants at four. Prime commercial paper was in request at 6½ a 7 per cent.

Foreign exchange was steady at 109⅞ a 110 for prime bankers' sixty day sterling, and 110¾ for sight bills.

GOLD STEADY—110⅞ A 111.

There was rather more activity in the Gold Room, but, on the whole, a steady market. The earliest impressions favored a rise on the rumor of a specie shipment to-morrow of over a million dollars, and the price advanced from 110⅞ to 111. Later in the day the engagements of specie were found not to exceed $600,000, and the advance was entirely lost, the last price being 110⅞.

THE EXPORTS OF THE WEEK.

The aggregate amount of exports (exclusive of specie) from the port of New York for the week ending April 25 was $5,165,725.

GOVERNMENTS HIGHER AND FIRM.

The government list was temporarily influenced by the report of a heavy market in London, occasioned by cable advices of the excitement and decline on the New York Stock Exchange, but afterward became strong, and finally, on the closing, ease of the money market advanced a fraction and closed firm. The government paid out a million dollars coin to-day for interest in advance upon the public debt. The amount of May coupons already prepaid is therefore $2,500,000.

ANOTHER DECLINE IN STOCKS—A REACTION.

The endurance and patience of the smaller speculators for a rise at the Stock Exchange were again severely tested by the cliques, who, in operating for a revived "short" interest, gave the market a fresh "drop." The street had, however, become somewhat accustomed to the crucial process, and took the matter with comparative serenity, although the reduced quotations were a Turkish bath in producing copious perspiration among those whose property was undergoing such rough treatment. In fact the excitement at one time was intense, despite the courage which the street had called up, and the features of a panic were decidedly marked when Lake Shore rattled down to 106⅞, Ohio and Mississippi to 51 and Northwest to 83½. The clique in the last mentioned stock are generally credited with the mischief of the past two days, only a portion of the blame being attributed to the other pools, who are supposed to have parted with only a portion of their stock in carrying out the plan for getting in a new line of "shorts." At least the market had this look further on in the day subsequent to the "break" in the morning. But even at the best figures the market was feverish and sensitive to the smallest alarm. As a consequence the fluctuations were frequent and wide, diminishing gradually toward the close, when a general reaction was established with a comparatively steady feeling. It will not be surprising, however, if the cliques continue their strategy for a day or two longer, and subject the street to a little more of the Turkish bath. As if to complete the picture of inconsistencies, and doubtless to puzzle and confound the outsiders still further, Western Union was rendered exceptionally firm, apparently to belie the general theory that as the most advanced of the speculative stocks it ought to have its reaction. Perhaps its wealthy supporters deemed it a good opportunity to snare and draw in those who had dared to go short of it on such a principle. The pool in Hannibal and St. Joseph, comprising in great part the returned city representatives in the Legislature, fresh from the capital, with their pay in their pockets, also made a brilliant movement in their favorite and carried the common stock to 100⅜ and the preferred to 105½ when everything else was falling about their ears.

HIGHEST AND LOWEST PRICES.

In the gold loan market the rates ranged from three per cent for carrying to flat for borrowing. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:—

Gold cleared	$38,339,000
Gold balances	1,280,841
Currency balances	1,429,911

The Westphalia for Europe took out $119,900 in specie.

SOUTHERN SECURITIES DULL.

There was almost nothing doing in the Southern State bonds, but prices were comparatively steady. The Louisianas were a shade lower in the levee bonds, but strong relatively to what might have been anticipated after the news of the crevasse. The new South Carolinas were also a little off, but steady. The following were the final street quotations:—Tennessee, ex coupon, 67 a 67¼; do., new, 67 a 67½; Virginia, ex coupon, 70½ a 71; do., new, 71 a 72; do., registered stock, old, 56 a 56½; Georgia sixes, 82 a 85; do. sevens, 89 a 91; North Carolina, ex coupon, 48½ a 49; do., new, 25¼ a 26; do. special tax, 18½ a 19½; Missouri sixes, 93 a 93½; do. COMMERCIAL REPORT.

TUESDAY, April 25—6 P. M.

COFFEE.—Rio was less active. No cargoes were disposed of. The usual jobbing demand for lots was supplied at former prices. Other descriptions were steady, with a light demand. We quote:—Rio—Ordinary, 10c. a 10½c.; fair, 10¾c. a 11⅛c.; good, 11½c. a 12c.; prime, 12½c. a 13c.; extreme rates for lots, 10½c. a 13½c.—all gold, per lb., in bond, thirty and sixty days' credit; Java, 18c. a 20c.; do., 18½c. a 22c.; Singapore, 16c. a 18c.; Ceylon, 15½c. a 17c.; Maracaibo, 14c. a 18c.; Laguayra, 14c. a 16½c.; Jamaica, 13c. a 15½c.; St. Domingo, gold, in bond, 9½c. a 10c.; Costa Rica, 15½c. a 17c.; Manila, 14c. a 15c.; Mexican, 15c. a 17c.; Savanilla, 13½c. a 16½c.; Curacoa, 13c. a 16c.

COTTON.—The market was excited and so unsettled that accurate quotations could not be obtained. The appended quotations conform as closely as possible to the prices at which the bulk of the transactions occurred, and show an advance of ⅛c. per lb. on all upland grades excepting ordinary, which, not being deliverable upon contract, was not in demand, and did not participate in the advance. There was no distinction made in the price of Alabama, New Orleans or Texas. Cotton from all sections of the country sold at the same price, the usual relation of prices for the various growths being disregarded—in fine, anything being suitable to deliver on contracts was taken with avidity. Holders taking advantage of the forced, fictitious and temporary value given to the staple by the "corner" in maturing contracts sold unreservedly at the advance. The legitimate demand from exporters and spinners was limited and at materially lower prices than quotations represent. The sales were:—

	To-day.	Last Evening.	Total.
Export	1,273	392	1,665
Consumption	334	92	426
Speculation	2,943	1,046	3,989
In transit	—	105	105
Total	4,550	1,635	6,185

—Included in the above are 925 bales to arrive. The following quotations are necessarily nominal:—

	Uplands.	Alabama.	N. Orleans.	Texas.
Ordinary	10⅞	10⅞	11	11⅞
Good ordinary	13⅞	13⅞	13⅞	13⅞
Low middling	14⅞	14⅞	14⅞	14⅞
Middling	15⅞	15⅞	15⅞	15⅞
Good middling	16⅞	15⅞	16⅞	16⅞

—The interest in the market for future deliveries was centred in maturing contracts and a large business was done in April at a further sharp advance of ⅞c. per lb., while the more remote months were neglected and only slightly higher—the improvement being 1-16c. a 1-8c. per lb. in May and June. The transactions to-day were 12,500 bales, as follows:—April, 400 at 14⅞c., 3,850 at 14⅞c., 1,100 at 14 11-16c., 4,750 at 14⅞c., 200 at 14 13-16c., 1,000 at 14⅞c.; May, 200 at 13⅞c., 200 at 13⅞c.; 100 each May, June and July, at 13⅞c., together; June, 100 at 13 15-16c., 200 at 13⅞c., 200 at 14c.; 100 each, June and July, at 13⅞c., together, and yesterday after 'Change, 1,400 bales as follows:—April, 100 at 14⅞c., 300 at 14⅞c., 800 at 14⅞c.; June, 100 at 13⅞c.; 100 at 13⅞c. Exchange—⅞c. paid to exchange 500 May for 500 April. Total 13,900 bales. The average quotations of yesterday's forward deliveries were as follows:—April 14.30c., May 13⅞c., June 13.77c., August 13 13-16c.

FREIGHTS.—There was a fair chartering business for petroleum at full rates, with which exception the market was dull and unchanged. The engagements were:—To Liverpool, by sail, 700 bales cotton at ⅞d. a 5-16d.; 400 bbls. pork, 3s.; 200 tierces beef, 4s.; and by steam, 150 tierces beef, 5s.; 2,000 boxes cheese, 40s.; 20,000 bushels grain, 8d. To London, by sail, 1,000 bbls. flour, 2s. 4½d.; and 300 tierces beef, 4s. 6d. To Glasgow, by steam, 15,000 bushels grain, 8½d. The charters included a Norwegian bark, 248 tons, to Cronstadt, with 2,100 bbls. refined petroleum, at 5s. 3d.; an American bark, 507 tons, to a direct port in Italy, refined petroleum, 4s. 9d. per bbl. and 25c. per case; two British barks (now at Boston), from Philadelphia to the Continent, between Havre and Hamburg, with about 4,500 and 5,000 bbls. refined petroleum, 5s.; a British bark (on the spot), from Philadelphia to the Continent, with 6,000 do., at 5s.; a ship (now at the South), from Philadelphia to the Continent, 4s. 9d.; two schooners, to the Windward, about 50c. per bbl.; a British bark, 294 tons, from Wilmington to a direct port in the United Kingdom, with naval stores, lump sum, and a bark, 310 tons, to Havana, general cargo, lump sum.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.—Receipts—flour, 10,102 bbls.; wheat, 15,450 bushels; corn, 26,886 bushels; corn meal, 940 bbls. and 625 bags; oats, 13,600 bushels. The flour market ruled dull and prices were in some cases lower, particularly for low extras. The sales were about 10,000 bbls., including about 4,000 bbls. low extras at $6 25 a $6 40. Rye flour was quiet and without change. Corn meal was steady. We note sales of 300 bbls. Western at $3 75 on dock. We quote:—

No. 2 State	$5 00 a $5 75
Superfine State	6 00 a 6 25
Extra State	6 30 a 6 75
Choice do.	6 75 a 7 00
Superfine Western	6 00 a 6 25
Extra do.	6 30 a 6 75
Extra Minnesota	6 50 a 7 75
Round hoop Ohio, shipping brands	6 50 a 6 90
Round hoop Ohio, trade brands	7 00 a 7 25

St. Louis low extra	7 00 a 7 25
St. Louis straight extra	7 25 a 7 75
St. Louis choice double extra	7 75 a 8 50
St. Louis choice family	8 50 a 10 50
Rye flour	4 40 a 6 10

—Wheat was dull and 1c. a 2c. lower. We note sales of about 25,000 bushels at $1 45 for old and new mixed, $1 51 for new No. 2 delivered, $1 53 for No. 1 do., $1 56 for amber winter, $1 65 a $1 85 for white, and 20,000 bushels No. 2 Chicago, last evening, at $1 48, to arrive in May. Corn was active and 2c. higher, closing at 75c. a 76c. for mixed. The sales were about 50,000 bushels at 74c. a 76c. for mixed 76c. a 77c. for yellow; 81c. for Southern white. Oats were 2c. a 3c. better. The sales were about 60,000 bushels, within the range of 65c. a 68c. for Western and 67c. a 69c. for Ohio. Barley was dull. We note sales of about 20,000 bushels at $1 50 for Western in store. We also note sales of 14,000 bushels malt at $1 04½ in store. Rye was dull and entirely nominal. We note sales of about 5,000 bushels Canada peas, part at $1 50.

MOLASSES.—A fair demand prevailed for foreign at about former prices. We note further sales of 236 hhds., 12 tierces and 102 bbls. Barbadoes, on private terms, and 182 hhds. and 13 bbls. St. Croix on private terms. Domestic was quiet but steady. We note sales of 200 bbls. New Orleans at from 59c. a 66c. We quote:—

	Old Crop.	New Crop.
Cuba—Centrifugal and mixed	20c. a 22c.	25c. a 26c

English Islands	25c. a 35c.	32c. a 43c.
New Orleans	— a —	40c. a 70c.

PETROLEUM.—The market was inactive and prices nominal, buyers and sellers being about ¼c. apart in their views. We heard of no transactions, either here or in Philadelphia. We quote:—Crude, in bulk, prompt delivery, 13c. a 13¼c.; refined, prompt delivery, 22⅞c. a 23c.; May delivery, 22⅞c. a 23⅞c.; June delivery, 23⅞c. a 24c.; July delivery, 24⅞c.; and in Philadelphia, refined, prompt delivery, 22⅞c.; May delivery, 22c. a 23⅞c.; June delivery, 23⅞c. a 24c.; July, 24⅞c. At the Creek the market was fluctuating, closing weak at $3 20 on either road.

PROVISIONS.—Receipts—Beef, 351 packages; pork, 2,010 do.; cut meats, 234 do.; lard, 28 do. and 41 kegs. There was another break in the pork market, which closed dull at a decline of 75c. a $1 per bbl.—$17 being the best bid price for cask pork and $17 25 for future delivery. We note sales of about 1,250 bbls. mess at $17 25 for May and June. Prime mess was dull and nominal at about $15 75—offered at the close at $15 87½, without buyers. Beef was dull and prices were nearly nominal. We quote:—New extra mess, bbls., $16 a $18, new prime mess, tierces, $26 a $28 50; India mess, tierces, $29 a $32, and Texas prime mess, tierces, $22. Beef hams were quiet at from $24 a $28 for Southern and $27 a $30 for Western. Cut meats.—There was a small business in pickled hams. The sales were about 500 lbs. on private terms. Other meats were dull and nominal. We quote:—Smoked hams, city, 14c. a 15c.; smoked shoulders, 10½c. a 11½c.; Western pickled hams, 11½c. a 13c.; pickled shoulders, 8c. a 8½c., and dry salted shoulders, 6¾c. Bacon was dull, lower and nominal, the market being depressed by the continued decline in Chicago; the sales were about 50 boxes Cumberland cut at 8½c. We quote:—Long clear, 9c. a 9¼c.; short clear, 9⅞c.; short rib, 9c., and Cumberland, 8⅞c. a 8½c. Butter was quiet at from 25c. a 37c. for choice State half tubs, 25c. a 34c. for do. Welsh, 25c. a 30c. for do. Ohio and 25c. a 29c. for do. North river pails. Cheese continued without alteration; best factory, 14½c. a 15c.; lower grades, 10c. a 14c. Lard was fairly active and firm; we note sales of about 4,500 tierces at 11⅞c. a 11⅞c., on the spot and for May, 11⅞c. for June and 11⅞c. for July.

SUGAR.—The market was firm with a fair demand at previous prices. The sales were 1,000 hhds., including 633 hhds. good fine refining Cuba, at 9⅞c.; 300 hhds. good refining do. at 9⅞c.; 128 hhds. various qualities at from 8⅞c. a 9⅞c., and 65 hhds. to grocers at from 9⅞c. a 11⅞c., the outside price for Demerara. Also 216 boxes Cuba clarified at 10⅞c. Refined sugar was in fair demand at 12c. for soft white, and 13c. for crushed, powdered and granulated. We quote:—Cuba—Inferior to common refining, 8⅞c. a 8⅞c.; fair to good fair refining, 9⅞c. a 9⅞c.; good to prime refining, 9⅞c. a 9⅞c.; fair to good grocery, 9⅞c. a 10c.; prime to choice grocery, 10⅞c. a 10⅞c.; centrifugal, hogsheads and boxes, 9⅞c. a 10⅞c.; molasses, hogsheads and boxes, 7c. a 9⅞c.; melado, 4c. a 7c. JOHN L. MAPES, Engineer.

PROPOSALS FOR CONSTRUCTING AND FURNISHING IRON BUOYS.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE LIGHTHOUSE BOARD, WASHINGTON CITY, April 19, 1871.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 1 o'clock P. M. on Friday, the 12th day of May next (1871), for furnishing all the materials and labor, and for constructing and delivering, either on the Lazaretto wharf, at Baltimore, Md.; on the Buoy Depot wharf, at Wilmington, Del., or on the wharf of the Lighthouse Depot, at Tompkinsville, S. I., N. Y. (at the option of the bidder),

Twenty first class Can Buoys,

Twenty first class Nun Buoys,

Twenty second class Can Buoys and Twenty second class Nun Buoys.

And their prescribed accessories, as set forth in the printed specifications, and according to the drawings (both of which may be had upon verbal or written application to the office of the Lighthouse Board; Lighthouse Engineer at Baltimore, Md.; the Collector of Customs at Wilmington, Del.; the Lighthouse Inspector at Philadelphia, or the Lighthouse Inspector at No. 16 Broadway, New York), with the privilege (should the Board elect to do so at the time of entering into contract) of increasing the number of each or either one of the kinds and sizes of buoys above named, not exceeding double the number of all, or of either one of the kinds and sizes hereinbefore named.

The bids should specify for what sum the entire lot of 80 buoys will be delivered, and also the rates for which one of each of the kinds and sizes named will be furnished (if ordered in addition), to be constructed within a reasonable time which time must be named in the bid and will be embraced in the contract, to the entire satisfaction of the superintendent of the construction, or other duly authorized person on the part of the Lighthouse Board to superintend the work during its progress, and to test and receive (or reject) the buoys as they are finished.

The plates, and all other materials, to be used in the construction of these buoys and their accessories, will be subjected to the necessary inspection and test before being accepted, and must be of the kind and quality prescribed in the printed specifications for "Iron Nun and Can Buoys, to accompany revised drawings, plates VII and VIII, March, 1871." No bid will be considered from, or contract made with any person who is not a worker in, or manufacturer of, plate iron and the like; and the contractor or party or parties will be required to construct the buoys at his or their own workshops, and will not be permitted to transfer or sublet the contract.

Bids submitted by different members of the same firm or copartnership will not be considered.

The right is reserved to reject any bid and all bids for other considerations than the price that may be named.

Payments will be made within fifteen days from the receipt at the Lighthouse Board of the certificates of the inspecting and testing officers of the delivery by the contractor at the stipulated places and of his having accepted the whole number (twenty) of either one of the sizes and kinds of buoys named in the contract.

Each bid must be accompanied by a written guarantee (see form), signed by the bidder or bidders, and a competent surety (certified to be such by some officer or other person known to the Treasury Department), to the effect that in the event of the acceptance of such bid at any time within ten days after the date specified for opening of the bids, the necessary contract will be entered into within ten days after the date of notice of acceptance, and that in case the said party or parties offering shall fail to enter into contract as aforesaid, he or they guarantee to make good the difference between his or their offer and the next lowest bid.

A bond with surety to the satisfaction of the Department in a penalty equal to one-fourth of the amount, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract, will be required of the contractor, to be executed within ten days after the acceptance of the bid.

The bids will be opened publicly at the time and place specified.

For full details, see printed specifications, drawings and the form of guarantee.

All bids must be carefully sealed and endorsed "Proposals for Iron Buoys," and then placed in another envelope and addressed, for delivery in person, or to be sent prepaid through the mail to W. B. SHUBRICK, Chairman Lighthouse Board, Washington City.

WARE, THE CAMDEN, N. J., MURDERER, who was to have been hanged on Friday next, has had a stay of execution granted, and will have a new trial.

THE PRESIDENT left St. Louis yesterday on his return to Washington. He accepted no public demonstration in St. Louis, his visit being one of private business only.

A PRIVATE DESPATCH from the Salt Lake and California excursionists announces that the name of the drawing room car "William M. Tweed" had been changed to that of the drawing "cork" room car.

"A WHERRY GOOD IDEA," as Sam Weller would say, is that of General Grant to have a wherry of his own at Long Branch the coming summer. It will be so handy to have in the family if he wants to send any of his up Salt river.

GENERAL PLEASONTON has telegraphed an answer to a question of Chancellor Lowe, of England, that the match tax works very well here and yields two million dollars revenue annually. Chancellor Lowe must remember, however, that the people here comprehend why the tax is placed upon them, and are not disposed to chafe at the fair demands of government.

THE DEATH OF SCHAMYL.—Schamyl, the once famous Circassian chief is no more. His special history is little likely ever to be known, or at least fully appreciated, until his countrymen of the Caucasus begin to run cotton mills, work coal mines or print newspapers. What Wallace was to Scotland, Tell to Switzerland, Abdel Kader, of more recent memory, to Algeria, Schamyl was to the Caucasian tribes. When he fell it was not until after he had fought nobly and suffered much; and it is gratifying to be able to state that since 1859 he has lived with his family, in peace and plenty, as a subject of the Russian empire. Schamyl was born in 1797. Even amid the rush and fury of what we call modern civilization it is not good for us to forget such men as Schamyl.

GUIZOT AND THE STATE OF FRANCE.—M. Guizot has again appeared before the public in a communication on the state of France. The veteran ex-Minister has still a hope for the future of his unfortunate and humiliated country. He finds consolation in the fact that, although France has endured many revolutions since 1789, "she has always redeemed herself, and more than once with honor." M. Guizot has a good word for the Republican Assembly at Versailles. "On the whole," he says, "the National Assembly and the Executive have acted with intelligence, prudence and justice." We are glad to hear these sentiments coming from so able and experienced a statesman as M. Guizot, and we hope that the final triumph of the republic over the disorders which now exist in the capital will prove still more glorious than any heretofore accomplished in the history of the French nation.

The New Decision of the Supreme Court on the Legal Tender Act—What the Politicians Say and What the People Will Say.

From several sources at Washington, and in terms so positive that we cannot doubt it, we have the information that the majority of the Supreme Court of the United States have agreed upon an opinion, and that on Monday next they will declare it in open court, affirming the validity of the Legal Tender act of Congress of 1862, not only in reference to contracts made subsequent to the passage of the act, but also in reference to contracts made before its passage. The question submitted to the Court, after argument on a rehearing on Tuesday last, was whether the so-called Legal Tender act is valid or invalid under the constitution in its application to debts contracted before its passage; and, of course, in deciding upon this question in the affirmative the Court affirms the validity of the act touching debts contracted after its passage. Something over a year ago, after long, exhaustive and exhausting arguments on both sides, the Court decided, five to three, Chief Justice Chase delivering the opinion, that the Legal Tender act could not apply to debts contracted before its passage, and that accordingly all such debts must be paid in coin. This opinion did not touch the question of the legality of the act in relation to debts contracted since its passage; but there was an impression abroad at that time that if this question had been brought before the Court its decision would have been that this Legal Tender act is unconstitutional in reference to the payment of all debts—past, present and to come.

Mr. Chase, as Secretary of the Treasury, was the author of this act, which Mr. Chase, as Chief Justice, as far as called upon to decide, declared to be beyond the authority of Congress. So far, at least, he has not been able to reconcile his necessities as Secretary of the Treasury in the war for the life of the nation with the constitution of the United States. During the war, however, the carping politician may say, Mr. Chase was regarded as the head and front of aggressive radicalism, while in 1868 he was a candidate before the Democratic Convention for the Presidency, and that this change of base may have thrown new light upon the mind of the Chief Justice on the Legal Tender act. At all events he is reported now on this new decision to be with Justices Nelson, Clifford and Field, all democrats, in the negative; while in the affirmative are Justices Miller, Davis, Swayne, Bradley and Strong, the first three appointed by Lincoln and the last two by President Grant. But can it be possible that party politics or personal schemes or interests have anything to do with the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States? It is pretty broadly charged by two of our city contemporaries that personal interests or party affiliations are potential even in this Supreme Court.

For example, the Tribune, after approving, with terms of high admiration of the Chief Justice, the opinion of the Court of last year on this Legal Tender act, and after declaring that this new decision will ignore the poor and put "immense sums in the pockets of the rich and flourishing few corporations," and after reciting some facts in connection with this new decision, says, "Not only will the above circumstances be mentioned in derogation of the Court, but the further one that the two Judges (Bradley and Strong) who were instrumental in reversing the action of the Court, to the great advantage of the great railway and moneyed corporations of the country, were themselves interested in railroads at the time of their appointment." Now, here we have a side blow at General Grant, who appointed these two Judges, and we have a puff of the Chief Justice, from which we might infer that the Tribune is still nursing him and is working to cut out General Grant for the next Presidency. But why not, when in the first place the Tribune's specie payment crotchets are wholly at war with the maintenance of our paper money system, and when, in the second place, General Grant neglected to consult Mr. Greeley in his Custom House reorganization?

Next, with their never-failing antediluvian chop logic on State rights, the editors of the Post deplore this new decision as another step to a centralized government, and then with some broad allusions to the personal composition of the Court, and especially to the personal opinions of Justices Bradley and Strong, we are told that "many observers go further, and freely observe that these gentlemen, who were well known long before their appointment to have formed and expressed similar opinions in the service of the great corporations to which they belonged, are on the bench for the purpose of changing its judgment; so that the decision of the Court is really nothing more or less than the will of the appointing power." In other words, it is here suggested that General Grant, in the appointment of Justices Bradley and Strong, deliberately packed the Supreme Court in order to obtain the decision he desired on this Legal Tender act. But have not the learned pundits of the Post been also disappointed in the matter of certain "castles in Spain?" We cannot tell, but we may remark that since the appointment of General Sickles to Madrid everything to them has gone wrong at Washington. The truth is, there is no use in being mealy mouthed upon these judgments of the press or these decisions of the Supreme Court. They are all more or less affected, where great political questions are involved, by party influences and associations. Since the time of General Jackson, if not before, the appointments to the Supreme Court have been from the party in power, and if Abraham Lincoln got in a democrat or two it was less from design than from a mistake.

But coming to the real merits of this Legal Tender act decision, will it put immense sums of money into the pockets of the rich and into the hands of a few wealthy railway and other corporations at the expense of the poor and laboring masses of the country? We think not. We think, on the contrary, that this decision will be good in its effects upon all classes, pursuits and professions, in giving security and stability to our existing financial and business system of operations, in maintaining and in still advancing the gold value of our national currency and national bonds and in putting an end to all doubts and misgivings touching the validity of the Legal Tender act in reference to contracts, past, present and to come. On the other hand there can be no doubt that a decision from the Supreme Court sustaining the decision of last year and in addition pronouncing the Legal Tender act unconstitutional absolutely would be a disastrous shock to the country in all its financial and business affairs.

The constitution of the United States declares that Congress shall have the power "to coin money and to regulate the value thereof," and the power to "borrow money;" and while nothing is said of Congress on legal tenders, the States, in their individual capacity, are expressly prohibited emitting bills of credit or making anything but gold and silver a legal tender in payment of debts. In addition to the above and numerous other express powers granted to Congress, it is empowered "to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers;" and as some of the framers of the constitution assisted in establishing the first bank of the United States, we may assume that they knew something of these general powers of Congress which they intended it should exercise. With the power, then, to issue paper money, and the power to coin money and regulate its value, how can Congress be denied the incidental power of declaring its paper money a legal tender? Next, in declaring it a legal tender, may it not be applied to all debts outstanding at the passage of the act, as an act changing the value of coin will apply, one way or the other? But, satisfied that the majority of the Supreme Court will exhaustively plead the constitutionality of their opinion, we drop the argument. It is their opinion that most directly interests us all; and, whatever the politicians may say of the influences resulting in this opinion, we believe it will be good in its effects, and will give great and general satisfaction to the country. We have no faith in the politicians on either side; but we have great faith in the good, practical common sense of the American people, and we believe they will say that this Supreme Court decision is good.

Dr. Dollinger and the King of Bavaria.

The King of Bavaria has just written a note of condolence to Dr. Döllinger. The King of Bavaria is a young man of twenty-six. Dr. Döllinger is an old man of seventy-two. When the layman and the priest, the king and the subject, aggressive youth and conservative old age, so meet and so agree, there is only one explanation—which is, that the national sentiment is not divided. No reader of the HERALD is ignorant of the fact that Dr. Döllinger was, before and during the Council, the soul of the anti-infallibilist party. The sentiment against infallibility was general—it was English, American, French, German; but the learning, the exhaustive research, the just conclusion, came from the Munich Professor. It was he who inspired Strozmayer of Hungary, the Prince Primate of Bohemia, the Archbishop of Munich and the rest. The opposition to the dogma which, while the Council was in session, was strong, became weak directly the Council was dispersed. Our American bishops, as well as some of the English and French and German bishops, as quietly and with as much grace as was possible in the circumstances swallowed the leek. Dr. Döllinger is the one man who has stood out, and for conscience sake braved all the consequences. Loving the Catholic Church dearly, and believing that the unity of Christianity was still possible under the Catholic banner, he fought and still fights against what he considers an innovation, a wrong, a folly. For doing so he has been excommunicated. Let it not be forgotten that in his manifesto, the full text of which we published last Sunday, he asked, in humble terms, to be heard at the approaching Assembly of Bishops at Fulda, and, if that could not be granted, before a commission named and presided over by his archbishop. His argument for this hearing was that, so far as he could find out the truth, thousands of the clergy and hundreds of thousands of the laity were opposed to the dogma of infallibility. "All my friends," he says, "are of my mind." "Nobody believes it" is what I hear from every lip. In face of such a request, backed up by the best of reasons, the excommunication is especially impolitic. If the impolicy of the excommunication required further proof we should find it in the fact that the course of the learned professor and divine has been formally endorsed by forty-four out of his sixty-two colleagues in the University of Munich. After praising him for the course he had taken and promising to stand by him, they ask, "Is God in need of your lie?" and they answer, "We and thousands like us, emphatically like you, reverend sir, say 'No.'" Add to all this what we said at the outset—that the young King is at his back. One other fact ought not to be forgotten in connection with this Döllinger-Papal affair. It is this:—South Germany by its union with North Germany has found at least intellectual liberty. This also is important. The national Parliaments in Vienna and Berlin have both, within a few days, pronounced against the ultramontanists. Döllinger is a stronger man than Hyacinthe. Old as he is he may prove another Luther. However all this trouble may end, and it is not one whit less interesting to us on this Continent than to the Europeans, we cannot help saying that this first fruit of infallibility is anything but sweet. All's well that ends well; but the end of this play is not yet.

SPAIN, CUBA AND THE UNITED STATES.—Señor Vildosola, during the sitting of the Spanish Cortes on the 6th inst., read from the NEW YORK HERALD of the 18th of March a despatch respecting the sale of Cuba to the United States for the sum of one hundred millions of dollars. The worthy Señor asked the government for explanations on the subject. The Colonial Minister, warmed to a respectable degree of well assumed frenzy, answered Señor Vildosola by the solemn assurance that the island had but one price—"the blood of the Spanish army." All very fine, Mr. Minister. The United States, no doubt, could take it at that price if it so desired; but the republic can purchase at a cheaper rate, and as it is not in any hurry to close the bargain it can afford to wait.

HOW IS IT that none of the Big Chiefs of Tammany went on the excursion to Salt Lake? Were they apprehensive that it might prove the forerunner of an excursion up Salt river in 1872?

The War Against the Reds—Our Latest Despatches from Paris and Versailles.

Our latest despatches from the seat of war around Paris are dated on the 24th and 25th inst. At the time they were sent hostilities were being prosecuted with vigor, but it was asserted that a truce would be declared the day following. Whether this is for the purpose of considering proposals for peace, or merely to bury the dead, we do not distinctly understand. The bombardment from Fort Mont Valérien was continued with vigor and increasing accuracy. The Porte Maillot is almost destroyed, and the insurgent artillerymen have to be cautious how they expose themselves, two having had their heads carried off by shells. Shells are falling in the Avenues des Ternes, Elysées and Josephine, which are swept by the fire of the mitrailleuses. The spectators and inhabitants are flying in every direction and the Nationals are seeking shelter behind the barricades. In the Rues Castiglione and Rivoli enlarged preparations are being made for a desperate resistance. Notice has been served upon all persons between the ages of nineteen and forty that they must be ready to march immediately or be tried by a court martial. The National troops are disheartened and had refused to go out. Natives of Alsace and Lorraine are exempted from service upon their producing certificates of birth. All persons would be thankful if the Germans would interfere, such is the misery and distress within the city. The Communists state that the day before a battalion of the line laid down its arms at Asnières, intending to join the rebels, but were stopped by six hundred gendarmes, and that at the southern forts another battalion advanced with the same object, but it was misunderstood by the Nationals, who fired upon the line which then fled. But little reliance should be placed upon these statements; there is probably no truth in them.

From Versailles we learn that M. Thiers had a long interview with Prince Albert of Saxony and General Fabrice on the 24th inst. The reason therefor and the result have not been given publicity. Fort Charenton has been occupied by a detachment of the government troops, notwithstanding the assertion of Prince Bismarck that none of the forts would be evacuated by the Germans until the final treaty of peace is signed. It is stated, and we think it quite probable, that a strong reaction in favor of the Emperor Napoleon has set in in the provinces. General Ducrot has resigned and his command has been given to General Douai. It is the intention of the government to bombard the city as soon as all the forts on the north and east of Paris are in its possession. M. Thiers, in a circular dated on the 24th inst., says that the last few days have been employed in constructing batteries and other engineering work, and in concentrating troops. New corps have been formed at several points, composed of the veterans who fought at Gravelotte. He further announces that the late engagements at Bagneux were successes for the government troops, and says that the great movement will soon commence. A slight movement favoring the reds had occurred at Dieppe, but it was instantly suppressed and had no effect upon the populace. On the 25th inst. (yesterday) a heavy fire from the government batteries was opened upon Forts d'Issy and Vanves and the ramparts at Point du Jour. A despatch of the same date from Paris says that hostilities had been suspended at Neuilly to allow the inhabitants to remove. The Commune has made requisitions upon the vacant houses in Paris for lodgings for the people flying from the bombardment. The Germans are abandoning the left bank of the Seine and some of the forts, and the troops of the Commune attempted to occupy the latter, but upon notice of the German commander they were ordered to be evacuated by General Cluseret. Upon the whole the situation looks very favorable for the government. It is advancing and strengthening its positions, and increasing its forces in the field. The reds, on the contrary, although showing a bold front, are evidently becoming weaker, and we shall not be surprised to hear that they have been compelled to withdraw from their positions and seek the shelter of the city walls and barricades. If they hold out much longer the great assault will be made, and the result of that is easily foretold. The red rebellion must end and the control of Paris be restored to the government.

THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE COMMONWEALTH FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY at their meeting yesterday discussed the reported defalcation of the Secretary, and some of them declared that Mr. Hawz, the President, was culpably negligent. The lesson of the misfortune of this company is the old, old lesson of too much confidence in the honesty of tempted subordinates and too much negligence of business on the part of the high officials. The result is that the innocent policy-holders, and not the guilty officers, are the sufferers.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE.—Some democratic papers are affecting to make out their defeat in Connecticut a "blessing in disguise." They argue that if after their victory in New Hampshire they had carried Connecticut triumphantly, instead of by the skin of their teeth in electing the Governor alone, the copperhead and unreconstructed democrats would have become so rampant that there would have been no holding them, rendering an easy victory to the republicans in 1872 almost certain. In that view of the case the practical defeat of the democrats in Connecticut may be considered a blessing in disguise—but we respectfully suggest that the fewer such blessings the democratic or any other party has the better it will be for their political supremacy.

THE RIVAL ROCK ISLAND RAILROADS at Peoria, Ill., having a litigation among themselves, have taken to the arbitration of force, and on Monday night had their locomotives butting at one another for the possession of the track. When these tyrannous corporations become confident enough in their own strength to treat law and order with such utter contempt it is time for the high dignitaries of the land to look seriously to a curtailment of their extraordinary powers.

SEVERAL SUITS FOR WOMEN SUFFRAGE are in court in Washington. Women's suits have cost the men a great deal of suffering ever since the days of Adam.

Financial Operations of the Government—Questionable Statements of Mr. Boutwell.

It will be seen by a statement of the financial operations of General Grant's administration, published in another part of the paper, that neither Mr. Boutwell's figures nor the claims of radical partisans are as reliable as they pretend to be. One of the electioneering dodges of the radicals, and one which the administration orators are using a great deal since they opened the Presidential campaign, is to make it appear that the national debt has been greatly reduced, while the burden of taxation has been relieved and the government has been very economical. This, in fact, is one of the planks of the Presidential campaign platform on which the administration, Senator Morton and the other leaders of the party rely. What are the facts, as shown in the article referred to? The receipts of the Treasury, from all sources, for the year ending June 30, 1869, were $370,943,718. The next year, ending June 30, 1870, they were $411,255,477. The increase of taxes or receipts from taxes amounted, therefore, in that year of General Grant's administration $40,311,730. Did this look like a reduction of taxation—like taking the burden off the people? The amount of taxes collected the first six months of the present fiscal year—that is, up to the 1st of January, 1871—was $200,198,271. This exceeded the amount of the corresponding period the previous year, which shows that taxation has been increasing and not decreasing all along. Indeed, there has been raised in taxes from an over-burdened people over a hundred millions a year more than was necessary to carry on the government, to pay the interest of the debt and to provide for the sinking fund. How can we believe in the promises of a party to reduce taxation which has all along been cheating the public by misrepresentation? It may be truly said of this party that it imposes burdens grievous to be borne and will not lift one even with the little finger.

And what is the pretext for this overwhelming taxation? To pay the debt, which ought to be left principally to the future. The present generation bore the weight and brunt of the war, and has paid already a stupendous sum in conducting that and in paying off the floating debt. Twenty years hence the people of this country will be better able to pay two hundred millions than we are to pay one hundred millions. But the real object in wringing such a vast amount of taxes from the people has been to get the credit of paying the debt and to have on hand all the time an enormous surplus fund for political purposes. It is impossible to prevent corruption and extravagance with such a stupendous unnecessary revenue. Mr. Boutwell and the administration organs boast of paying $204,751,412 of the debt during the two years of General Grant's term of office, and of saving $11,537,461 of annual interest to the country. But we have seen by the figures quoted that if this were true—if this amount of debt had been paid and interest saved—it has not led to the reduction of our taxes. The fact is not, however, as Mr. Boutwell states. Over two hundred and seventeen millions have actually been expended, but $23,528,948 were paid for premiums on bonds bought and $68,793,150 more for bonds purchased on account of the sinking fund, as provided for by law. This leaves only $125,027,600 as the special fund applied by the voluntary action of the Secretary to the purchase of the debt, and, consequently, only a saving of a little over seven millions and a half of interest, instead of $11,537,461, as falsely represented. It is useless to talk of honesty when the financial statements of the government are thus garbled to cheat the public. No confidence can be placed in promises to reduce taxation and to practice economy in the face of the facts we have presented. It would hardly be possible for the present dominant party, which has revelled in enormous revenues, expenditures and extravagance the last ten years, to come down to moderate taxation and economy.

Population Statistics.

Mr. Samuel Ruggles' report on the Comparative Progress of Population in Europe and the United States, which was submitted to the late session of Congress by President Grant, makes some startling disclosures. The rate of increase in Europe during the past hundred years has diminished from one per cent yearly, at which it stood in the early decades of that period, to six-tenths of one per cent, at which it is rated now. The increase of population in the United States for the present half of the nineteenth century will hardly assume a ratio of two and a half per cent, except in cases of unusual emigration, and Europe will do well if her ratio is not still further diminished. The causes given for the steady decrease is the diminishing fecundity in marriage and the lax morality of the two worlds. These statements are somewhat startling, for the percentage of increase continuing to diminish may soon become an actual decrease, and in a few centuries there may be nothing more substantial left of us than there is of ancient Greece and Rome. "Is the Caucasian played out?" No race of people has ever yet been obliterated except by means of its own crimes and immoralities, and no nations have been utterly swept away until wealth and grandeur had made them effeminate and indolent. Rome, Italy, Spain, and, we may say, France, reached the perfection of learning, civilization, wealth and power, and thence dated their downfall. The Mabille has done that for France which the representative vices of the gorgeous empires of old did for them and which our representative vices may do for us.

SECRETARY SEWARD'S OLD EXTRAVAGANCE in cable telegraphic tolls is the subject of learned and anxious discussion in the Court of Claims. The contested amount is thirty-two thousand dollars for despatches sent during a period of nearly a year's duration on subjects of paramount interest to the government. Why should there be any haggling over the debt? At the time it was incurred the tariff by the Atlantic cable was very high, and yet at the present time, when the tariff is comparatively lower, the NEW YORK HERALD pays annually, without grumbling, a sum for cable despatches more than five times as large as this—a sum that would be a munificent allowance for many a foreign prince.

Affairs in Central and South America.

By telegram from Kingston, Jamaica, we have later intelligence from Central and South America of an interesting and important character. A wonderful discovery of coal and oil has been made on the Isthmus, within thirty miles of Aspinwall. The former is said to be inexhaustible in quantity and of a very superior quality, equal to the best imported. If this information is correct the discovery will prove of immense importance and must enhance the value of everything on the Isthmus. Coal in that vicinity is an expensive article. All that is used there has heretofore been imported. The consumption by the steamers on both sides is enormous, and if the demand can be supplied from the immediate vicinity the new mines will prove of inestimable value. We hope, for the sake of the waning prosperity of Aspinwall and Panama, that the news may prove in all respects true. Another revolution has broken out in Colombia. The State of Chiriqui is up in arms and the insurgents are having things very much their own way. An American steamer has been seized by them and a United States vessel of war has been despatched from Panama to recover her.

From Central America we hear that the war between Salvador and Honduras is ended, by the complete defeat of the armies of the latter. The territory of Honduras remains in possession of the Salvadorians. This war has been a short and most decisive affair, and now it remains to be seen what will be done with the conquered republic. It is possible that Salvador may see fit to retain control and keep both under one government. This might answer very well. One less of the number of petty States would, we think, prove beneficial to the remainder. From the south coast we learn that the Araucanian Indians were giving much trouble in Chile. Active preparations were going on to check their hostile movements. Seven earthquake shocks had occurred on the southern coast. A new steamship line has been established between Callao and China, the stock being all subscribed for. It is pleasant to know that, while we have only one revolution to announce among these petty republics, we can chronicle a peace between two of them. All of those south of the equator are quiet for the present. It is announced that the losses sustained by the late flood in Peru are enormous, much greater than at first supposed. The election campaign in Colombia is without change.

Hunting for an Arctic Gorilla—Du Chaillu in a New Field.

That irrepressible and adventurous explorer, Paul B. Du Chaillu, who is known throughout the world for his discoveries and wonderful adventures in Equatorial Africa, particularly for his discovery of the gorilla and other animals unknown before, is about to visit Lapland, Sweden, Norway and the more northern parts of Europe to make other explorations. This was announced to the American Geographical Society of this city, and that body at once elected him honorary secretary of the society during his proposed journey. From what is known of the intrepid character and endurance of Du Chaillu we may expect valuable contributions to science when he returns. The learned will look with interest for the result of his discoveries in the new field he has chosen, while the public will expect other and amusing contributions to our popular literature. His "Explorations in Equatorial Africa," "Journey to the Ashango Land," "Stories of the Gorilla Country," and other works which have been extensively circulated, will be supplemented, no doubt, by an interesting book on the wonders of the Arctic or most northern region of Europe. It is a fruitful field of observation, full of poetry, myths and grand scenery, the home of the sagas and primitive superstitions. Doubtless the learned societies of Europe and the northern governments of that Continent where Du Chaillu proposes to go will afford him every facility and encouragement possible. Here we feel particularly interested in his undertaking, because he is an American and because he has done so much already as an explorer and discoverer. The Central Park Commissioners should not lose this opportunity of obtaining contributions to their museum through him. He will go with the best wishes of all for a successful journey and safe return.

LEFT-HANDED COMPLIMENT TO GENERAL GRANT.—The Boston Advertiser, which has always been run in the Sumner interest (and that at present is hardly supposed to be the interest of General Grant), came out yesterday morning with rather a curious article about the President. At first glance one would suppose that it was a decided and outspoken declaration in favor of General Grant. But when we read that "the republican party has gained at the hands of General Grant more than it dared ask for," we are in doubt which to admire most, the modesty of the republican party managers or the resoluteness of General Grant in knocking the wind out of one of those managers—Senator [illegible]—and that picayune affair Fenton, for [illegible] Custom House of the New York [illegible].

Personal Intelligence.

General John A. Logan, Member of Congress, of Illinois, arrived yesterday at the [illegible] Avenue Hotel.

T. C. Fields, Member of Assembly, and Mrs. [illegible], sojourning at the Grand Hotel.

Senator Morrill, of Maine, is among the arrivals at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

General N. P. Banks has arrived at the St. Nicholas Hotel from Washington.

Commodore Pickering, of the United States Navy, is stationed at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Mr. T. L. Lallin, of Saugerties, is staying at the Sturtevant House.

Mr. Charles Fechter has arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel from Boston.

FINE ARTS.

Sale at the Somerville Art Gallery.

A very large number of picture fanciers, many of them ladies, who seemed to take a great interest in the proceedings, were present last evening at the sale of pictures consigned by Goupil & Co. and Mr. Snedicor, for public competition. The prices realized were, upon the whole, very liberal. Eighty-five pictures, comprising about half the collection, brought in the aggregate sixteen thousand dollars or more. The picture which brought the highest price was "Emile Levy's Dawn of Love," which brought $1,520, and next in order came "The Gipsy Horse," which was knocked down for $1,180, and Van Marcke's "Landscape and Cattle," for $1,150. These pictures possess considerable merit and were cheap at the prices paid for them. The sale will be continued this evening, when the balance of the consignment will be disposed of.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Our special correspondent in Paris sends us the following interesting report of the situation in Paris:—

PARIS, Monday evening, April 24, }
VIA BOULOGNE, April 25, 1871. }

The cannonading from Fort Mont Valerien and from the government batteries at Courbevoie is most accurate. The shells are thrown against the insurgent works with remarkable precision.

EFFECT OF THE CANNONADING.

Porte Maillot is almost destroyed. This afternoon the heads of two artillerymen were carried off by shells. Shells are falling in the Avenue Friedland, and the Avenues des Ternes and Josephine and the Champs Elysees are swept by shots from the mitrailleuses. Spectators and the inhabitants are flying, and the insurgent National Guards are seeking shelter behind their barricades.

A DESPERATE RESISTANCE.

The barricades in the Rues Castiglione and Rivoli have been enlarged and preparations have been made for a desperate resistance. Crowds of persons are assembled on the hill of Montmartre watching the artillery duel.

THE CONSCRIPTION.

Notices have been served on all males between the ages of nineteen and forty-five, threatening them with court martial if they do not march immediately for the front. Just at the present writing a company of the 112th battalion is surrounding the Rue Montmartre for the purpose of disarming malcontent Nationals.

DISHEARTENED.

The Eleventh battalion of sailor Communists has come from Neuilly, wanting ammunition. The troops generally are disheartened, and they refuse to go out to-night.

PERSONAL.

General Bergeret has been set at liberty. Deschamps, the poet, died at Versailles on Sunday last.

THE COMMITTEE HAS NOT RESIGNED.

The insurgent committee denies the rumors current concerning its resignation, asserting that, like the National Guards, it will disappear only when liberty is attained.

AN ARMISTICE.

An armistice has been agreed upon, beginning at nine o'clock in the morning and ending at five in the evening. The object is to enable the belligerents to bury their dead.

STOPPING SUPPLIES.

A fish train on the Northern Railway has been stopped. The Commune denies that a provision train has been seized also.

EXEMPTED.

All Alsatians and Lorrainers have been exempted from service on production of certificates of their birth. They are thankful to the Prussians for this interference in their behalf.

DISAFFECTED VERSAILLES TROOPS.

The Communists state that on yesterday a battalion of the line laid down their arms at Asnieres and started to join the insurgents, but that they were stopped by a force of 600 gendarmes. Near the southern forts another battalion of the line advanced with the same object, but their purpose was misunderstood by the National Guards, who fired into them, whereupon the entire battalion [illegible]

THE GERMANS LEAVING THE LEFT BANK OF THE SEINE.

The Germans are abandoning the left bank of the Seine. The soldiers of the Commune occupied certain of the forts thus given up. A flag of truce soon made its appearance from the German lines and preferred an objection to the act, whereupon the Communists, at the order of General Cluseret, evacuated the forts.

THE ARMISTICE REGULATIONS.

During the suspension of hostilities at Neuilly the troops of the two armies will hold their respective positions, and fire ceases all along the lines.

STRONG POSITIONS OF THE VERSAILLES ARMY.

In several reconnoissances by the Communist troops recently made the Versailles forces were found in the occupancy of strong positions. They were attacked, but without material result. The army of the Assembly is mainly engaged in the establishment of new batteries.

COWARDLY OFFICERS.

General Dombrowski demands the prosecution of the chiefs of the 220th and 221st battalions of the National Guard for cowardice.

THE VICTORY OF MONTROUGE.

The commandant at Fort Montrouge claims a victory for the forces of the Commune under his order.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

President Thiers has issued a circular, bearing date of the 24th, in which he says:—

A HOPEFUL PROSPECT.

The last few days have been employed in engineering work and concentrating our troops. New corps have been formed at Cherbourg, Cambrai and Auxene, composed of the heroes of Gravelotte. Generals Douai and Clinchant will command them.

The late engagements at Bagneux were successes for our troops, who captured a red flag from the enemy. The great operation will soon commence.

CANNONADING ON THE SOUTH.

A heavy cannonading from the batteries of the Versailles army at Meudon, Creteuil and Chatillon was opened this morning on Forts d'Issy and Vanvres and the ramparts at Pont du Jour.

AN INSURGENT SORTIE REPULSED.

The insurgents made a sortie on Sunday towards Chatillon and at first captured a barricade held by Versailles troops, but were eventually repulsed with heavy loss.

PARIS TO BE BOMBARDED.

M. Thiers has resolved to bombard Paris when the forts east and north of the city are delivered up by the Prussians.

Inflammatory Placard in Dieppe.

LONDON, April 25, 1871.

A despatch from Dieppe says a placard, urging the supporters of the Commune to hasten to Paris has been displayed there, but was destroyed by the authorities. The inflammatory document had no effect upon the inhabitants.

GUIZOT.

The Ex-Minister of Louis Philippe on the Present State of France.

The following communication from M. Guizot to the London Times will be read with interest at the present time:—

I think I may venture to say that no one can see the faults of my country more clearly than I do; no one can condemn them more utterly; the faults of France cause me even more sorrow than her misfortunes. But I never lose faith in her good qualities, although they may seem to be obliterated by her faults, and I can state that the good within her will open up infinite resources even when her prospects are darkest.

Seven months ago France suddenly found herself without a government and without an army. In that disaster it was Paris that saved the honor of France. And now Paris has met with her own disaster. The glory of the siege is followed by the disgrace of falling under the dominion of a violent and incapable mob, and becoming a prey to a detestable and absurd outbreak of demagogic fury. I must acknowledge that this has caused me more sorrow than surprise, for I have had some experience of revolutionary crises and their excesses. I know how my country falls into them, and also how it finds a way out again. I will not say how many revolutions France has originated or endured since 1789, but she has always redeemed herself, and more than once with honor. I have never for one moment ceased to hope that she will shake herself free from the present revolution.

But in this crisis there are two remarkable facts which we must not overlook. The revolution is not general, and it does not spread. Attempts to imitate Paris have not been wanting. We have seen them at Lyons, Marseilles, St. Etienne, Narbonne and Toulouse. They have all failed, and have been suppressed in two or three days, without any great effort. The National Assembly elected during the crisis is the very reverse of revolutionary, and the French nation evidently condemns [illegible] and sympathizes with the National Assembly. Paris alone remains [illegible] alien to the national feeling, and has resigned herself to the will of an anarchical faction.

And yet, just call to mind what Paris has recently done and suffered. For five months she endured a siege without parallel among the great cities of Europe. During the siege every passion, good as well as evil, was violently excited, and the populace was influenced by all, immoderately. Then, again, all classes, rich and poor, wise and foolish, the Chaussée d'Antin and the Faubourg St. Honoré, as well as Montmartre and Belleville, fought side by side against the enemy. Moreover the civil and military classes were closely allied; they fought and suffered together, and the passions of each class were communicated to the other.

The siege is over; war with the Prussians ceases. Is it all ended? No. We pass immediately from foreign to civil war. Troops of the line and the National Guard who remain loyal are expected to fire upon the men who have been fighting at their side against the Prussians. Many true and loyal citizens have hesitated to obey this command, and their hesitation has emboldened and at the same time irritated the lawless and insurgent element. During the siege the loyal citizens fought more bravely than the disloyal, but all at once they found their opponents resolute and bold, while they were perplexed and timid. This sudden transition and the complication of their duty were too much for them. Evil passions and false theories flourished, grew confident and became aggressive; but the true friends of order and liberty could not see that it was their duty to turn immediately against the new enemies who had formerly been their companions in arms.

I pray you, sir, to notice that I am not offering any excuse for this weakness and hesitation. I am explaining it. It is more natural and more susceptible of explanation in this case than it has been in our previous revolutionary crises. The Prussians are impatient for the re-establishment of peace and order. They are astonished to find the loyal part of the population of Paris supine and irresolute in the presence of the follies and crimes of the disloyal faction. They would have liked Paris, alone and unaided, to deliver France from civil war, since it was Paris which had so recently set the example of energetic resistance to a foreign enemy. It would, indeed, have been a glorious achievement, but it was too much to hope for.

The National Assembly which was elected by the provinces has had truer insight and shown more justice to Paris. It saw that Paris was placed in a very difficult and complicated position, and, therefore, had patience, and allowed the city to feel the weight of the tyranny which oppresses it, and to work out its own release if it could and dared. Seeing Paris irresolute, the Assembly has now decided to help it. The decision has certainly not been formed very promptly, nor without considerable hesitation; but the Assembly found itself also in a difficult and painful position. Was it absolutely the first duty of the National Assembly to attack Paris—that same Paris which a few weeks ago was the bulwark and the honor of France? The Assembly took time and gave every one time—army as well as nation—to see the actual condition of things and to rally and unite in order to resist internal anarchy, that worst and most dangerous form of evil which has befallen us when a great foreign war is scarcely ended.

I will not pause to discuss measures in detail, to criticise omissions or delay or to point out the faults which may have been committed at Versailles. On the whole the National Assembly and its Executive have acted with intelligence, prudence and justice. And now, driven to the last extremity by the folly, crime and attacks of the insurgents, it opposes them with energy, and has resolved to put an end to the revolution which oppresses Paris, and to render the guilty authors of it powerless. A new and loyal army has gathered round the representatives chosen by France, and gallantly obeys their orders and those of the generals in command. The first efforts of this army have already been crowned with success.

How long will this deplorable struggle last? No one can say. But we trust that it will be short, and we feel confident that the result is certain and will be decisive. I am anxious that England should form a just estimate of our position and the difficulties which it presents; and shall be much obliged to you, sir, if you will give me an opportunity of making them known and understood.

The Debate on the Budget and Parliamentary Tactics of the Opposition.

Ministerial Hint of Resignation—The Lucifer Match Tax Plan Withdrawn—Why the Police Acted Against the People.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

LONDON, April 25, 1871.

The Parliamentary debate on the Lowe-Gladstone budget continues to excite the liveliest political feeling in the House of Commons, and the reports of the proceedings attract a universal attention on the part of the outside public.

Continuing my report of the debate, by cable for the HERALD, I have to state that during the sitting of the House of Commons last night—or rather at an early hour this morning—Mr. Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in continuation of his remarks, already reported, said:—"If the Cabinet were compelled to withdraw the budget the government must seriously consider the proper course to pursue."

Messrs. Gilpin and Jacob Bright and other liberal members made speeches in opposition to the budget.

Mr. Disraeli spoke in denunciation of the propositions of the budget for the increase of the income tax and the succession duties and for the imposition of an excise duty on lucifer matches and wax lights. He moved a resolution adverse to the match tax clause.

Mr. Gladstone, in reply, said that "to recall and reconsider the budget at the bidding of an adversary was unprecedented. He was, however, willing to reconsider the question of the tax on lucifer matches in case it should be found to be inconvenient and irritating to the people as well as unproductive of favorable revenue results."

Mr. Gladstone, in conclusion, said that "the opposition had in the main directed their assaults upon the match tax, but the abolition of the system of purchase of army commissions was the real target."

In the vote which ensued on a division the government was sustained.

The House soon afterwards adjourned.

Before the close of the debate another vote was taken upon Mr. Dixon's motion against the "proposed tax on matches," which resulted favorably to the government.

The Anti-Match Tax Agitation in the Streets—Government Repression—The Tax Clause Expunged from the Budget.

LONDON, April 25, 1871.

The House of Commons is still engaged in the consideration of the budget.

During the session of the House of Commons this evening Mr. Gladstone stated that "he had assumed the responsibility of ordering the police to prevent anti-match tax demonstrations." He, the Premier, "declined to say why the same powers had not been used to stop Sunday demonstrations."

Mr. Disraeli gave notice of a resolution to the effect that the financial plans of the government were "unsatisfactory to the House, and should be reconsidered."

The Chancellor of the Exchequer then announced that the government, "seeing the violence of the opposition to the measure, would withdraw the match project and would prepare a substitute on Thursday."

The Ocean Steam Race—The Steamship City of Paris Ahead of the Oceanic.

LONDON, April 25, 1871.

The Inman steamship City of Paris, Captain Morehouse, from New York April 15, arrived at Queenstown at half-past six this morning. The White Star steamship Oceanic, Captain Murray, which left New York on the same day and passed Sandy Hook thirty minutes ahead of the City of Paris, has not yet been reported at Queenstown. The ocean race, therefore, if there was such a thing, has been won by the City of Paris.

Report of an Ocean Horror and Sad Fatality at Sea.

LONDON, April 25, 1871.

It is reported that the steamship Queen of the Thames, from Melbourne, bound to London, "has been lost, and that a large number of persons were drowned."

No particulars have been received.

FUNERAL OF PRINCE ALEXANDER OF WALES.

[From the London Times, April 12.]

The funeral of Prince Alexander John Charles Albert, the third son and sixth child of their royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, was solemnized yesterday afternoon in the picturesque churchyard of St. Mary Magdalene, in the park at Sandringham. The funeral ceremonial was of the simplest possible character, and conducted with privacy, the few people who travelled from Lynn and elsewhere, and they were not numerous—it being King's Lynn market day—being kept on the high road outside the park palisading, and only those connected with the royal estate being admitted into the park. The weather was dull and rather cold, but not so severe as it had been on some previous days.

The pathway from the garden gate to the churchyard was lined on each side by the laborers, workmen and cottagers on the estate, and near the churchyard were a score or two of children belonging to the Princess' schools, who were dressed in scarlet capes, &c. the presents of the Princess of Wales. The demeanor of all present was devout in the highest degree. The procession moved on from the house to the church with no accompanying tolling of bells, the only public intimation of what was going on being that the flags were half-mast high on the towers of the Sandringham's and King's Lynn churches, the Gray Friars' Tower and some other places. The funeral ceremony was conducted by the Honorable and Very Reverend the Dean of Windsor, Dr. Wellesley, assisted by the Rev. W. Lake Onslow, M. A., rector of Sandringham. The coffin of the infant Prince bore the following inscription:—

> Alexander John Charles Albert, > third son of
> Albert Edward and Alexandra,
> Prince and Princess of Wales.
> Born April 6, 1871.
> Died April 7, 1871.

A vault had been provided for the infant Prince under the east window of the church, and the tombstone will be visible from the grounds. At the conclusion of the ceremony the procession reformed and returned to Sandringham House, and the vault was at once bricked up.

THE CAMDEN (N. J.) MURDERER.

Jersey Curiosity Seekers Disappointed—Preparations for the Execution of Ware at Camden Completed—The Scaffold Erected—Unexpected Stay of Execution—A New Trial Awarded—New and Important Testimony for the Prisoner Discovered.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25, 1871.

Sheriff Morgan, of Camden, received a telegram from Trenton from James M. Scovel, Ware's counsel, to the effect that he had prevailed upon Chancellor Zabriskie to grant a writ of error and stay of execution of the law. Ware will accordingly have a new trial. The scaffold was finished this morning. The fence, twenty-five feet high, was built in the Court House yard, and only awaited the day of execution, when the telegram arrived to dash the hopes of curiosity seekers to the ground.

Ware's spiritual adviser informed a HERALD reporter this evening that the condemned experienced a change of heart on Sunday last, and has been fully resigned to his fate since that time. When he was informed that a writ of error had been granted he was completely overcome with joyful emotions. His wife, who has been spending the day with him, also manifested the greatest joy at the reception of the gratifying intelligence.

The new trial will come off in June next. It is said some facts will be developed that will put an entirely new face on the whole affair. His wife was about being confined when his trial took place and was debarred from giving some very important testimony, which, it is said, will have a tendency to greatly mitigate the severity of his sentence.

PERILS OF THE DEEP.

Probable Shipwreck in Boston Bay—A Vessel Supposed to be Lost with All on Board.

BOSTON, Mass., April 25, 1871.

A quantity of "wreck stuff" has been found in Boston Bay, which renders it almost certain that the bark Merrimac, of Boston, Captain Nichols, from Montevideo for this port, has been lost, and probably with all on board. Among the débris was a bucket rack marked "Merrimac, of Boston." That vessel was fully due at this port, and it is likely that she was run down and sunk by an outward bound vessel. Nothing has yet been discovered of the wreck except the bucket rack and some blanks, casks, &c.

The Merrimac was owned by Messrs. Bridge, Lord & Co. and others of Boston and was not insured. Her cargo consisted of 675 bales of wool, consigned to C. F. Perry.

Captain Nichols belonged to Searsport, Me., where his family reside.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

The Fair-Crittenden Murder Trial Not Concluded—Murder and Suicide in Grass Valley—Sunday Lawlessness in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25, 1871.

The Fair-Crittenden trial did not proceed this afternoon, on account of the funeral of a sister of one of the jurors. The jury not being allowed to separate the whole twelve attended the funeral. Byrne had commenced the closing argument and will finish to-morrow. The case will undoubtedly go to the jury to-morrow night.

John G. Reutschler, a saloon keeper at Grass Valley, and his wife, were both found dead in a room adjoining the saloon this morning. The woman had shot her husband dead and then sawed both her arms to the bone with a knife and bled to death. They had not lived happily together.

Rowdyism at Sunday picnics has become so outrageous that the Catholic clergy, by order of the Archbishop, are exhorting their congregations to abandon them altogether.

A RAILROAD WAR IN ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 25, 1871.

The war at Peoria, Ill., between the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Peoria and Rock Island Railroads, was very exciting. Last evening both parties disputed the other's right to run trains on a certain track, and the Peoria and Rock Island determined, at about four o'clock, to force a passage with a train coupled to five engines. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific opposed the passage with three engines hitched together, and both parties butted against one another for more than an hour—the Mayor refusing to interfere—when finally the Peoria and Rock Island cleared the track and shot its train ahead. To-day both roads have been enjoined, each by the other.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

TORONTO, Canada, April 25, 1871.

An agreement has been concluded between the Great Western and Michigan Central Railroad Companies for a period of twenty years, under which the entire through earnings are put into a joint purse and then divided. Both companies also bind themselves not to interchange traffic with any new lines across Canada or Michigan. This virtually consolidates the lines and makes them one for through traffic between Chicago and Buffalo and the Suspension Bridge. The tunnel to connect the two lines under Detroit river is also to be commenced forthwith.

CUBA.

Herald Special Report from Havana.

Insurgent Forces in the Santi Espiritu District Increasing.

Valmaseda in Hot Pursuit—Execution of Citizens Charged With Aiding the Insurgents.

TELEGRAMS TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

HAVANA, April 24, 1871.

The HERALD correspondent at Santi Espiritu furnishes the following report of the condition of affairs in that region:—

There are more insurgent bands in this district than in the beginning of the insurrection. The majority have invaded this jurisdiction from Camaguey and destroyed much valuable property. Valmaseda, since his arrival, has been having them actively pursued, and has ordered many executions of citizens accused of aiding and abetting the insurgents.

An Expected Duel Not to Come Off.

HAVANA, April 25, 1871.

It is reported that the expected duel between Ramon Herrera, the Colonel of the Fifth Volunteers, and Lorenzo Pedro, will not take place.

SPAIN AND CUBA.

The New York Herald in the Spanish Cortes—The Question Respecting the Sale of Cuba to the United States.

MADRID, April 7, 1871.

Yesterday's session in the Spanish Cortes was more pacific than the preceding one. It was confined to the voting of the committee who have to verify the actas of the elections of each deputy, to an interpellation respecting the rumor which had been current of an offer on the part of the United States to purchase Cuba for $100,000,000, and to the reading of a communication from the Duke of Montpensier. Señor Vildosola put the question respecting the sale of Cuba in this form:—

The NEW YORK HERALD of March 18 gives account of a despatch which had produced great sensation in all the diplomatic circles of Washington. The despatch is apparently directed by General Sickles, notifying an offer of the government to sell the Island of Cuba to the North American Republic for $100,000,000. I desire the government to give the proper explanations on this point, for, as they are seeking money in all quarters and at any cost, it looks as if we were about to sell for little or many millions a portion of Spanish territory watered with the blood of our soldiers and our volunteers.

The Colonial Minister, Señor Ayala, replied with a warmth which looked very much like what one might call "put out:"— Minister AYALA—I should have wished that this report, of which Señor Vildosola has made himself the echo, should not have needed the denial of the government, but should have been met by the denial of his conscience as a Spanish citizen. As it is, I roundly deny that the rumor originates with the representative of Washington in Spain, and as I have been compelled to occupy myself with this calumny I announce solemnly, in the name of the government, that Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands have but one price, the blood of the Spanish army—that army of Peninsulars and natives who are resolved to lose everything before losing honor.

SMALLPOX ON SHIPBOARD.

The Steamers City of Dublin and Alexandria in Quarantine at Halifax with Smallpox Among Their Passengers.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 25, 1871.

The Inman steamer City of Dublin, from Liverpool for New York, has been detained in quarantine at this port since Sunday morning, together with her passengers and mail, on account of the prevalence of smallpox among the steerage passengers. Two deaths occurred to-day.

The Anchor line steamer Alexandria, from Liverpool for St. John, N. B., has also been detained since Sunday on account of smallpox on board.

The Board of Health of Halifax will hold both steamers until the disease is eradicated.

TWO BRUTAL ROUGHS.

They Enter a House of Ill-Fame and Beat One of the Female Inmates Nearly to Death.

George Hill, alias Cooley Keys, and Thomas Howard were out on a quiet little bust last night, and in the course of their ramblings went into a disorderly house in West Twenty-sixth street, kept by a Mrs. Rice. Here they had a high old time of it. Wine, oaths and bawdy talk flowed as freely as water for half an hour or so, when Hill and Howard took exception to something Mary Burns—a girl living in the house and with whom they were carousing—said, when they both went for her, with the evident intention of either killing or seriously injuring her for life. So far as the latter was concerned they were successful in a most eminent degree. They pounded her with empty champagne bottles, glasses, chairs, and, in fact, any and every thing they could lay their hands on, till the poor creature was

MORE DEAD THAN ALIVE.

She screamed "Murder" at the top of her voice and implored the other parties in the house to save her life, but through fear of the two ruffians who were pounding her no one interfered or said a word in her behalf. At last, when she was more dead than alive, two officers, attracted by her cries, rushed into the house and rescued her from her would-be murderers, both of whom they took to the Twenty-ninth precinct station house and locked up.

Upon examination the girl was found to be frightfully injured. Her head was cut in half a dozen places, both her eyes were completely closed up, and her body was covered with bruises where the brutes had kicked her when she was prostrate on the floor.

Cooley Keys and Thomas Howard are most notorious characters and are well known to the police of this city. They will both be arraigned before Justice Cox, at Jefferson Market Police Court, this morning, when justice will most assuredly be meted out to them.

There is no purgative or cathartic so mild and efficacious as HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS, causing neither nausea nor griping pains—as is the case with the ordinary cheap patent pills of the day, most of which are composed of calomel or mercury, and carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons. After thoroughly purging the system use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA, the great blood purifier, and they will insure new life, new blood and renewed vigor. Try them.

The Milton Gold Jewelry Company Have appointed the proprietors of the well known and original One Dollar Store, 667 Broadway, their sole Agents in America for the sale of the MILTON GOLD JEWELRY. The only place now in the city to procure the genuine Milton Jewelry will be at the Original Dollar Store, under the Grand Central Hotel. One-half of their magnificent show rooms will be devoted to the exhibition and sale of these goods, and every promise made to the public by the Milton Gold Jewelry Company will be carried out by the proprietors of the Original One Dollar Store, 667 Broadway, opposite Bond street. Their place of business is continually filled with the best class of our citizens, purchasing the Milton Jewelry and also other articles that are equally cheap that can only be had at the Original One Dollar Store, which place of business has been in successful operation for over three years, and during that time the bargains offered to the public have not been so great as those offered at present. It is, indeed, astonishing to see the choice of such magnificent goods, sold for one dollar; and it is the proprietors of the One Dollar Store only that seem to be able to supply such goods for one dollar.

POSTSCRIPT.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26—4 A. M.

LATEST NEWS FROM FRANCE.

No Military Movements on Either Side.

TELEGRAM TO THE NEW YORK HERALD.

VERSAILLES, April 25—Evening.

The firing of the siege guns was light to-day, and was directed mainly against Forts Issy and Vanves. The weather is nasty. There has been no movement on either side.

AFFAIRS IN ALGERIA.

In the Assembly to-day Minister Picard announced that all requisite measures had been taken to keep down insurrection in Algeria.

All Movements Suspended—Conciliation Placards—Revenue of the Commune—An Appeal from Lyons—Charenton Not Evacuated.

PARIS, Tuesday Evening, April 25, 1871.

All movements have been suspended to-day in consequence of the armistice. The belligerents have been engaged in tending and repairing barricades.

CONCILIATION PLACARDS.

Many placards urging conciliation have been posted up.

REVENUE OF THE COMMUNE.

The Rerel says the daily revenue of the Commune averages 6 6,000 francs, and is sufficient to provide for the men under arms and for the conduct of the war.

AN APPEAL FROM LYONS.

A delegation from Lyons appeals to the Assembly and Commune to cease their fratricidal strife.

CHARENTON NOT EVACUATED.

The reports that the Prussians evacuated Charenton are unfounded. The Communists and Versailles troops confront each other before the place in expectation of its evacuation.

AUSTRIA.

A Government Bill.

VIENNA, April 25, 1871.

The government has introduced a bill in the Reichsrath giving the Provincial Diets the right of initiative in legislation.

THE TIGERS' TRIP.

The Janitor's Regrets—The Gathering of the Clan—Neil's Warbling—The Cavalcade Up the Avenue—The Start for the Golden Gate.

Yesterday morning the hoary-headed steward John, of the Blossom Club House, at 129 Fifth avenue, arose with the dawn and a sigh. He skinned up the ladder through the scuttle, and the first fiery soul came from the east caught the Stars and Stripes, which the aged janitor was then in the act of hoisting. The old man let a few tears fall on the roof and then descended.

"'Twas ever thusly, since I was a kid," he murmured. "I never had a nice crowd of boys here but, when they'd learned to stake me well and love me, they were sure to scoot."

By this time it was eight o'clock, so the silver haired gatekeeper flung wide the portals of Tiger Hall. The morning breezes moaned through the wide corridors and the airy form of Neil Bryant

FLOATED IN ALONG IT.

"Bless me, nobody here—dat's coorious," and the troubador enchanting sung a sweet song all to himself, which ended in a prolonged whistle. No wonder that Neil whistled; for John Fine, the quietest man in New York, was out in the hall bellowing in a most unprecedented manner. He was in grief, and this was his way of showing it.

"Not all the perfumes of Arabia could replace ye," he sobbed, "my sweet scented tigers."

"Who talks of smells?" said Pete Trainor, entering the chamber with a bouquet of tea roses and forget-me-nots eighteen inches wide in his buttonhole. Neil pushed away the weeping Fine and fell upon Pete's breast, burying his face in the tea roses and bursting into melody as follows:—

"Oh, tell me, my own one, is this our last meeting?
Shall we wander no more in the Blossom Club's bow'rs
To see the bold bhoys the sweet tiger's milk treating
And the billiard balls roll in the wee, sma' hours?"

"Take your nose out of my tea roses," said Pete, huskily, "and quit your fooling."

While this scene was enacting the parlors were filling, and it was evident that some great event was about transpiring. The rumble of carriages broke on the ear, and big J. T. Coe, with his big diamond pin, big barouche and four big horses, pulled up before the door, and the big man and the big pin were soon in the big room. Harry Hamilton, behind his four horses, in their gold mounted harness, was the next arrival. Alderman Terry Farley dropped in, as if he forgot his handkerchief and didn't care whether he found it or not. Jimmy Boyle, in his presented his exquisite get-up, with General Grafulla, of the Seventh regiment band, whose head was full of stories of flute players. Jimmy McGowan was missing for some time, but a four-in-hand was seen to depart on a hasty errand and soon after return with him at market-wagon pace. The horses were covered with foam, and the cause was at once seen in the

SADDLE-ROCK-COLORED OVERCOAT,

IMMENSE AMERICUS CLUB BA DGES

which Jimmy carried on each shoulder. The Gumbleton diamonds were present, and Gumbleton himself was somewhere around. Sol Sayles soon made himself heard. "Hank" Smith, "the poor boy of the Mohawk," was observed to be present too, and seven or eight feet of Warden Brennan presented itself from Bellevue. The young judicial giant, Gunning S. Bedford, was seen in the Warden's vicinity. It was then that Owen W. Brennan, with a smiling face, observed,

"Are we all here, boys?"

"Some of them have backed down," said George Mitchell, a bitter smile drawing down the corners of his handsome mouth. "Let us count," he added. "There's yourself, Owen, paterfamilias, and Ed. Kearney. Wm. H. Moloney, the historian; Pete Trainer, Frank McCabe, Thomas Donohue, Ned Dunnelly, Judge Coulter, Dr. Andrews, John R. Platt, Tom Moloney and myself, George Mitchell, commissary general of subsistence."

"To horse," said big Mr. Coe, and the party, now numbering about 100, descended the steps. Six four-in-hands and twenty pair-horsed open barouches lined the avenue. In a second they were mounted, and everybody began to wonder how it was that Eugene Durnan did not turn up. It was just nine o'clock, and as the jolly cavalcade clattered merrily along windows were flung open and for a moment with all the elements of wonder attached to Gilpin's famous ride. At Thirty-first street it rambled down to Seventh avenue, thence down to Twenty-ninth street to Ninth avenue, where it turned round the corner and dumped the party at the depot. Ed Sassford offered to bet Judson Jarvis a wooden toothpick that Ed Kearney had a toilet set worth any other member's entire baggage.

The Wagner drawing room car—the Wm. M. Tweed—was next inspected and found to be magnificent in all that relates to fitting and ingenuity with a view to elegance and sumptuous ease.

A NUMBER OF LADIES

bade farewell to the departing "braves," whose purpose now leaked out for the first time. Tired of city life or such relaxation as may be found at Albany, they had resolved to cross the plains with a view of taking in the city of divorce or Chicago, where they will rest a week. (N. B.—Marriages performed in five minutes, divorces in a quarter of an hour.) Then they will seek the noble red man near his ancient Council Bluffs, on to Omaha. Nebraska, across the Father of Waters, and on, still on, to the paradise of multiple marriagehood, Salt Lake City. There they will rest for a week, while George Mitchell will fish for and the rest will observe "how the old thing works" in Utah. Now will they seek the Golden Gate, and, sniffing the broad Pacific, philosophize on the morals of the "Heathen Chinee." Then back on lightning wheels they'll roll, fresh for the breezes of the Atlantic when they open the Americus Club House at Greenwich.

PICKLED TROUT IN THE SALINE WATERS

The engine bell tolled briskly and the train started. A salvo of fog torpedoes enveloped the car in smoke as the snorting monster bore the young tigers off in their gilded cage.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 25, 1871.

The members of the Americus and Blossom Clubs, of New York, bound for California, arrived here at seven o'clock this evening in the car Wm. M. Tweed, when they took supper and proceeded on their journey. They were met here by a delegation of friends.

WEATHER REPORT.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, April 26—1:30 A. M.

Synopsis for the Past Twenty-four Hours.

On the Pacific coast the barometer has slowly risen since Monday night, with brisk and high westerly winds during the day. The pressure has been variable and falling, with light winds at the Rocky Mountain stations. Falling barometer, with increased temperature and rain, extended from the western plains eastward to the Alleghanies, and light rains are now reported on the middle Atlantic. The barometer has fallen, but it is now stationary in the South Atlantic States and Southern Florida. A small area of increased pressure is now central on the lower lakes. The barometer is falling steadily in the Ohio Valley.

Probabilities.

Cloudy and rainy weather will probably be experienced on Wednesday west of the Alleghanies and on the extreme East Atlantic. Partially clear weather, with light winds, on the upper and lower Lakes; cloudy weather on the South Atlantic.

THE CAMDEN RIOTS.

Sentence of Frank Sonders.

In the United States District Court, Trenton, yesterday, before Judge John T. Nixon, Frank Sonders, found guilty of participating in the riots at Camden, at the last November election, was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and costs of prosecution and to be confined in the State prison six months and until the fine is paid.

THE COAL TROUBLES.

The Situation at Scranton Unchanged—The Miners Willing to Compromise—One Day Nearer Starvation—Exactions of the Monopolists—No Concessions to Workmen—No Coal Shipments Until June—Resumption of Work in the Wilkesbarre and Lehigh Regions.

SCRANTON, Pa., April 25, 1871.

While it is not known definitely to the public what the miners determined upon at the mass meeting to-day, one fact is patent and pointed, to the effect that no diminution of numbers was observable in the gathering. It was quite as large as any which have preceded, and the proceedings were equally harmonious. It is understood that there will be a bigger hold out if the companies do not show some spirit of conciliation by meeting the men upon a more equitable standard of wages than they have heretofore suggested. That the men are all anxious to go to work can not be denied, but it is a mistake to suppose that any respectable member is particularly desirous of doing so at eighty-six cents a diamond car. The adherents of the companies are endeavoring to create an impression at home and abroad that there are men enough ready to go to work to operate all the mines if they were not deterred by fears of personal violence. The meeting of to-day shows the fallacy of such statements, and establishes the fact that but a very limited number of miners of any nationality are willing to accept the terms offered by the monopolists. The meetings of German and Irish miners have really been unimportant affairs when compared with the great body of the brotherhood. It is probable that not ten men in one hundred have shown any disposition to accept the companies' terms, notwithstanding the great efforts made to have them do so. At any rate, hardly that percentage have reported for duty, even under the incentive of public meetings and the claptrap of so-styled vigilance committees. There is another thing which should also be understood. The men are not prevented from resuming work by their fears, but by their regard for principles and hatred of the narrow policy pursued towards them by the three great corporations in this county. They have no apprehensions of personal violence, as will be found by conversing with any number of men met promiscuously on the streets. But they are devoted to their obligations and cling to their union as the Israelites clung to the Ark of their covenant, hence do they still battle for their rights under privations and turn a deaf ear to those who have been busy to distract them by fomenting national prejudices. In all the exciting scenes of the last three weeks it is truly remarkable how perfectly free the miners have been from making threats of any kind. They have indulged in no bravado of what they would do, or expected to do, but have pursued the even tenor of their way, waiting and hoping for a glimmer of light to show forth through the darkness which has seemed to settle upon them.

I give this much explanation of the temper of the operatives that the public may know what to expect from them in the present juncture of affairs. The companies will not, it is thought, yield one tittle in the terms already proposed by them, and the miners will be told that no new propositions can be offered. The officials have declared already that they have no concessions to make, and that the men must go to work at eighty-six cents, and trust to what may turn up afterwards. Such is the understanding of the situation to-night; but it cannot now be said that the parties are as much apart as ever, for the poor miners are one day nearer the starvation point than they were yesterday. The sentiment among them is to still hold out, notwithstanding the discouragements which surround them, and, as I stated last night, it is probable that the mines of the companies will not be in operation before June. Small operatives for home consumption may be at work, but it does not look as if coal from this quarter will go to market for weeks to come.

There was considerable activity among the miners of the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company to-day. The men were served with a circular announcing that Mr. Parrish was willing to submit certain points of difference to a local board of arbitration. It is likely that the plan will prove agreeable to the miners, and it is intimated that the extensive works of the company, employing about 3,000 men, will be in operation on or before next Monday.

From the Lehigh region I have a report that an arrangement is in progress, with every prospect of a speedy and satisfactory result. The only really dark spot in the coal regions just now is in and around Scranton. A day or two will determine how long this state of things is to last here.

Wilkesbarre Collieries in Operation—Proposition of the Coal and Iron Company Concerning the Regulations of the Mines—Guarding Against Strikes.

PHILADELPHIA, April 25, 1871.

A despatch from Wilkesbarre says:—Six collieries in this vicinity have gone to work—namely, the Enterprise, Port Bowkley, Pleasant Valley, Warrior Run, Nottingham and Chauncey.

The following proposition has been submitted by the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company to the Committee of Miners:—

If the difficulty at No. 6 be first satisfactorily arranged the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company will resume work at their collieries on or before the 1st of May under the following conditions:—The men of your district, No. 12, W. B. A., shall pass the following resolutions:—

Resolved, That we hereby adopt the decision of Mr. William Elwell, umpire, made at Mauch Chunk April 19, as just and final between the men and the company and hereby pledge ourselves to be governed by the same in all particulars.

Resolved, That a standing committee of six persons be chosen, three by the company and three by the men, to whom all questions as to wages of as to any and all other differences which may hereafter arise between the company and the men, except such as are already settled by the decision of Judge Elwell, shall be submitted for settlement, a majority of whom shall make decisions, and in case said committee shall be unable to decide by a majority they shall choose a seventh man as umpire whose decision shall be final and binding upon the parties.

And be it further resolved, That hereafter, if any difficulty, disagreement or dissatisfaction shall arise on the part either of the men or the company, work at the collieries shall not be on that account suspended, but the men shall keep steadily at work and leave all differences to be settled by the committee mentioned in the second resolution.

CHARLES PARRISH, President.

There will be a meeting of the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company's men this evening to take action upon the above proposition.

The Miners Asking for a Conference to Settle Difficulties.

HYDE PARK, Pa., April 25, 1871.

The only result of the miners' meeting here to-day was the sending of a letter to Mr. Storrs, asking the directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company, or a committee thereof, to meet them, with a view of settling the difficulty.

ASHLAND, Pa., April 25, 1871.

The operators' proposition was accepted by the miners of "District No. 9" at a meeting held in Shenandoah City this evening.

HARDENBERGH AT HOME.

A Grand Ovation to the Venerable Senator from the Fourteenth District.

KINGSTON, Ulster County, April 25, 1871.

The streets of this city presented an unusually brilliant appearance this evening. All the principal buildings and many of the private mansions were illuminated. Bands of music paraded the streets, and gorgeous displays of fireworks sparkled against the sky. The prominent thoroughfares were thronged with sight-seers who turned out to enjoy the festivities. The occasion of all the gayety was the return of Senator Hardenbergh from the scene of his legislative labors, and the ovation tendered him by the citizens of every class and without distinction of party was a welcome to him on his return among them. At about nine o'clock the booming of cannon announced the gathering of the Senator's friends in front of his residence. While the band struck up a lively melody loud huzzas rent the air, and to the repeated demands for the object of all this enthusiasm the Senator answered in person. After a short address, in which he thanked them for the kindness shown him, Mr. Hardenbergh retired, and the remainder of the evening was passed in a manner which seemed thoroughly satisfactory to all concerned.

ANOTHER NATHAN MYSTERY.

Brutal Murder of an Old and Wealthy Citizen of Petersburg, Va.

First Clubbed, Then Placed on the Railway Track and Afterwards Thrown Upon His Own Premises—No Clue to the Assassin.

PETERSBURG, Va., April 24, 1871.

If New York has her Nathan murder, with all its concomitant horror and mystery, so Virginia has now her "Friend murder," which is equally surrounded by horror and mystery. Just one month ago to-day there was perpetrated beyond the suburbs of this city a murder which for atrocity, barbarity and inhumanity has scarcely a parallel in the records of crime, and any real clue to which has since baffled the skill and ingenuity of the local detectives, not only of this city, but also those of the neighboring city and metropolis of the Commonwealth, Richmond. About one mile and a half from Petersburg and not more than 300 or 400 yards from the line of the City Point Railroad stands the unfortunate and lamented victim of the recent murder. The structure is a beautiful modern villa, surrounded by all the appliances of comparative wealth, ease and comfort, and having about it—in the shrubbery, shade trees, tastefully arranged walks and neatly kept garden plots—an air of refinement and elegance seldom surpassed in the South. Mr. Charles Friend, the owner and proprietor of the villa, was, at the time of the murder, about fifty years old, and was possessed of a kind, amiable and generous disposition.

THE RESIDENCE OF MR. CHARLES FRIEND,

HIS LAST VISIT TO PETERSBURG.

On the evening of the 24th of March last Mr. Friend walked alone from his residence to this city for the purpose of purchasing some spool cotton. Having completed the purchase he started on his homeward, ill-fated way. Before leaving town he was requested to carry a small basket, containing a pair of his son's pants, which had just been finished by a tailor, and, putting the spool cotton in the basket, he again set out in the direction of his home. It was after seven o'clock and darkness had nearly succeeded the dusky twilight when the venerable gentleman got beyond the limits of the city, the gaslights of which were twinkling in every direction. On he walked along the railroad, little dreaming that his footsteps were dogged by a cowardly assassin. On walked Mr. Friend, stealthily pursued in the darkness by his murderer; and when about a mile from this city, and not far from the bridge which crosses the river, he was

DEALT A TERRIFIC BLOW

from behind, which descended with such force on the back and top of his head as to completely crush in the whole back portion of the skull, felling him to the ground instantly, stretched on the track. An umbrella, which Mr. Friend carried with him, lay beyond his head, where it was thrown when he fell, unbroken. The basket lay beside him. The assassin still lurked in the vicinity. Ten minutes elapsed. In that short time the unfortunate victim had been partially restored to consciousness. His assassin still watches from the darkness. Now the

SHRILL WHISTLE AND ROARING NOISE

of the train from City Point is heard rapidly approaching. The assassin probably thought that the train would finish his bloody work and leave no trace, clue or suspicion that a human hand had committed the murder. Unfortunately, however, for his designs, the victim, comprehending his danger, and with what feeble strength and consciousness he possessed—and self-preservation being uppermost even with a half-murdered man—Mr. Friend slowly raised himself, and, with the greatest difficulty and exertion, succeeded in dragging himself from the track, and as the train swept past he had barely escaped that terrible death. Another short space of time elapsed, when the half-murdered man heard footsteps approach, and then he felt himself assisted to his feet as if by some friendly hand, and was half-carried and walked towards the bridge in the direction of his home. Unable to speak himself he uttered no word, nor did his companion make any remark. They reach the narrow plank which makes the footpath across the trestle work of the bridge, and the dripping blood from his wounds mark every step they take. Just then other footsteps are heard and a

WOMAN COMES CLOSE BEHIND

them, also crossing the bridge, going in the same direction. She passed them at the farther extremity of the bridge, and in a moment was lost in the darkness. Going steadily on Mr. Friend was conducted from the railroad into a lane, or enclosed pathway, leading to his residence, but when within a few hundred yards of that house he was thrown violently to the ground and struck several terrible blows with the same murderous club across the face, breaking his nose, shattering one of his cheek bones and nearly putting out an eye. With all the energy which desperation could muster for a third attempt to escape death on that terrible night he cried out, "What do you want to beat me for?

ARE YOU GOING TO MURDER ME?"

Could the woman that passed them at the bridge have heard this appeal for mercy? and if so why did she not render some succor to a dying fellow creature? The assassin vanished with the cries of the murdered man, and was seen no more. Mr. Friend lay writhing in his gore, and as soon as able he again renewed his cries for help, which, fortunately, were heard by a negro at his house, who, with others, carried him to the house, bloody, mutilated and with the brain oozing from the wounds on the head, but still alive. Medical assistance was at once despatched for, but Mr. Friend was beyond the power of all human aid. He recovered, however, sufficiently to relate in an incoherent manner the circumstances of his murder, asserting his belief that the murderer was a

BLACK MAN.

At twelve o'clock midnight he breathed his last. The citizens, in large numbers, greatly excited, scoured the entire neighborhood and surrounding country in search of the murderer. The only clue they were possessed of was the dying declaration of his belief, on the part of Mr. Friend, that the murderer was black, and, consequently, every suspicious negro in the neighborhood was rigidly made to account for his whereabouts the previous night, and many, in terror not being explicit, were threatened with summary vengeance.

Two negroes who have been arrested by the police of this city are notorious

THIEVES AND VAGABONDS,

but from the evidence adduced at their preliminary examination it must require an extraordinary degree of detective skill and ingenuity to fasten the murder on them.

Experts incline to the opinion that the WOMAN WHO CROSSED THE BRIDGE

after the assassin carried Mr. Friend over it, and who admits that she saw two men with an umbrella walking ahead of her toward Mr. Friend's house, and that she afterwards heard his cries for help, knows more about the matter than she is at all willing to relate. Her testimony, when it is extorted from her, would seem to hang the only clue which might possibly lead to the arrest of the actual murderers.

Governor Walker has offered the pitiful reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers, but the city and citizens of Petersburg, more magnanimous, have offered nearly $3,000, which it is hoped may prove a sufficient inducement for some skilful officer to secure the arrest and punishment of the assassin.

Marine Disasters.

SHIP FOREST KING, from London, at Halifax, NS, April 1, ran into a field of drift ice April 6, a heavy sea running and the ice striking the ship very hard; next day found the cutwater and stem very much cut, the bow port stove in and the vessel leaking badly.

BARK HELLESPONT, Crowell, from Buenos Ayres, of and for New York (before reported), went ashore Feb 21, about 80 miles north of Rio Grande, the captain being confined to his stateroom at the time by illness. The vessel would prove a total loss. Passengers and crew all saved. Capt C writes that after remaining several days by the wreck, and the vessel continuing tight, commenced discharging cargo upon the beach, which would be transported overland to Rio Grande.

BARK MERRIMAC, Nichols, from Colonia via Montevideo Jan 31, for Boston, is supposed to be wrecked on Cohassett Rocks, Mass, as a bucket rack marked Merrimac, Boston, and a large quantity of wreck stuff was seen off Scituate, consisting of coats, ship chest, deck plank, &c.

BARK JOSEPH WEIR—The Coast Wrecking Co's steamer Relief and schr Predmore arrived this (25th) AM, with sugar saved from the bark Joseph Weir, ashore 18 miles north of Little Egg Harbor.

BARK ASHORE—Atlantic City, April 25—A barkentine, name unknown, went ashore last night on Brigantine Shoals. (A later despatch says she got off right away, and is said to have been the "Cordelia," of Genoa, laden with marble).

BARK BESSIE ROGERS—London, April 25—The bark Bessie Rogers (Br), Pratt, from Antwerp for New York, has arrived in the Thames in a damaged condition.

SCHR NORA, Wallace, from Millbridge for Providence, at Vineyard Haven, sprung a leak on the 19th inst off Cape Cod and put in leaking 3 feet per hour; will discharge deckload and haul on marine railway for repairs.

SCHR ANN DALE, from Jacksonville for New York, was dismasted and lost all her sails off Hatteras, and was towed into Hatteras Inlet by the schr Sarah B Owen on the 24th inst. The A D has gone to Newbern for repairs.

SCHR HARRIET FULLER, from Portland for New York, returned to port 25th inst, having sprung head of mainmast off Portland light 24th.

SCHR ASHORE—Norfolk, April 25—A schooner, name unknown, is ashore on the Middle, inside Cape Charles. Assistance has been sent to her.

Miscellaneous.

Purser Oscar Crocheron, of the steamship Rapidan, from New Orleans and Havana, has our thanks for his attentions

Wm Hathaway, Jr, the attentive purser of the steamship San Salvador, from Savannah, has our thanks for favors.

Notice to Mariners.

Steamship Catharine Whiting, from Fernandina, reports the following buoys misplaced at the entrance of Amelia river, Flat—Buoy No 1, 100 yards to WSW; bar buoy No 2, 250 yards to the northward.

Whalemen.

See Vineyard Haven report.

Arrived at New London 25th, bark Acors Barns, Jeffrey, Sandwich Islands, with 867 bbls sp and 500 wh oil on freight, and 830 lbs bone, for Williams & Barnes.

Arrived at New Bedford 22d, ship Young Phenix, Sherman, Indian Ocean, St Helena, March 3, with 850 bbls sp, 800 wh oil, and 700 lbs bone. Sent home 655 bbls sp, 700 do wh oil, 5,000 lbs bone. Has on freight 1,500 lbs bone from bark Atlantic.

Arrived at do 23, ship California, Willis, Arctic Ocean, Honolulu Dec 8, with 15 bbls sp, 1550 do wh oil and 15,000 lbs bone.

Also arrived 23d, ship Marengo, Little, North Pacific Ocean, Honolulu Dec 14, Whylootacke Jan 2, with 200 bbls sp (68 taken on the passage home), and 1050 do wh oil. Sent home 850 bbls sp, 1275 do wh oil and 57, lbs bone. Reports Feb 8, took a sp whale 76 feet long, and which would have made about 151 bbls oil, but owing to heavy weather circling, &c, parted, and saved but 68 bbls oil. Feb 26, lat 35 10 S, lon 37 W, struck a large sperm whale just at dark; the whale ran, and soon line, held on to him until 11 o'clock P M, and cut from him after staving one boat all to pieces. Lost whale line, boat and everything belonging, except boat's crew. Had shot five bomb lances into the whale or at him, it being so dark could not see. It was a very dark night. March 19, lat 8 44 S, lon 33 53 W, wind ENE, heading N, with a 4 or 5 knot breeze, at 10:30 P M, saw a light ahead of the ship. The third officer, in charge of the deck, said there was a ship directly ahead, and was coming into us. Captain Little ran on deck and ordered the man at the wheel to put it hard starboard, at the same time ordering the men to hallo and ring the bell, in order to draw the stranger's attention. It proved to be a large steamship, and supposed it to be English, as could hear the men talk in English and give orders. It seems that the steamer did not see the Marengo until she had got almost aboard of us, and then put his wheel hard starboard and ran his ship across our forefoot, the Marengo's lying, jibboom over his quarter and taffrail as the steamer drew past. There was probably no lookout on board the strange vessel, for we had seen the steamer some 15 minutes, and she coming at the rate of 10 to 12 miles per hour. She must have been some two to four miles off when first seen by the Marengo.

Also arrived 23d, bark Aurora, Barnes, North Pacific Ocean, Honolulu Nov 22, with 200 bbls sp and 1300 do wh oil on board; sent home 350 bbls sp, 3700 do wh oil, and 65,000 lbs bone; reports spoke Dec 25, lat 30 S, lon 100 W, bark Norman, Taber, NB, nothing since leaving Honolulu; April 16, bark Acors Barns, Jeffrey, NL, bound home.

Cleared at do 24th, bark Milwood, Miner, Atlantic Ocean and Cumberland Inlet.

A letter from Capt Russell, of bark Ocean Steed, of New York, reports her at Barcelona April 4, having taken 45 bbls sp oil since last report; all well.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ALL POWDERS AND OUTWARD APPLICATIONS close up the pores of the skin, render it harsh, coarse and flabby, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, purge the system thoroughly; use HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS and HELMBOLD'S SARSAPARILLA, which beautifies the complexion. Beware of those cheap patent pills, carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons—vended in wooden boxes—most of which contain either calomel, mercury or other deleterious drugs.

A.—A.—A.—A.—GREAT REDUCTION IN CUTLERY, Plated Ware, China, Glass, Cooking Utensils, Refrigerators and House Furnishing Goods; Ivory Handled Shefield Knives, $6 50 per dozen; plain white Dinner Sets, $15 to $25; decorated Dinner Sets, $50 upwards; Flint Glass Goblets, $1 25 per dozen. All other goods in proportion.
EDWARD D. BASSFORD, Cooper Institute.

A SINGLE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE THE MOST sceptical of the efficacy of HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS in Sick or Nervous Headache, Jaundice, Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaints, General Debility, &c. No nausea, no griping pains, but mild, pleasant and safe in operation. Children take them with impunity. They are the best and most reliable. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA creates new, fresh and healthy blood, beautifies the complexion and imparts a youthful appearance, dispelling Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches and all eruptions of the skin.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCES LEGALLY OBTAINED FROM the Courts of different States. No publicity. Advice free. Notary Public and Commissioner for every State.
F. I. KING, Counsellor-at-Law, 363 Broadway.

BARGAINS IN TEAS, FLOUR, GROCERIES AND PROvisions. Dealers and families can save 25 per cent at THOMAS R. AGNEW'S, 260 Greenwich street, New York.

COMPRESSED IVORY BILLIARD BALLS, MARtingale Ring, Checks, Sleeve Buttons, Horse, Dog, Fro Turtle, Sphynx, Owl, Skull and Rings, with glass eyes.
WM. M. WELLING, 207 Centre street.

CORNS CURED—FOR 50 CENTS EACH; BUNIONS, Bad Nails, &c., cured without pain, by Dr. RICE, 208 Broadway, corner Fulton street. Annihilator cures corns, bunions, nails, &c. By mail, 50c.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA IS THE Great Blood Purifier; thoroughly cleanses and renovates the entire system, and readily enters into the circulation of the blood, after purging with HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS the foul humors that have accumulated in the system for years. Both are carefully prepared according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry, and are thoroughly reliable. A test of 20 years has proved this. Try them.

IF YOU DESIRE A MILD, PLEASANT, SAFE AND agreeable Cathartic, which will cause neither nausea nor griping pains, use nature's remedy, HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS. They are purely vegetable; their component parts being Catawba Grape Juice and Fluid Extract Rhubarb." Should you desire a brilliant complexion, youthful appearance, new life, new fresh blood and renewed vigor use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

ABSOLUTE DIVORCES LEGALLY OBTAINED IN different States.—Desertion, &c., sufficient cause; no publicity; no charge until divorce obtained; advice free.
M. HOUSE, Attorney, 180 Broadway.

IF YOU WOULD HAVE NEW LIFE, NEW BLOOD and renewed vigor, use HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS. Purify the blood and beautify the complexion by the use of HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA. They are not cheap patent medicines, but thoroughly pharmaceutical, and are not equalled by any English or French preparation.

W. The £12 12s. lady's or gentleman's Travelling Bag, with silver or silver gilt fittings, ivory brushes, &c., complete.
ORTNER & HOULE, Jewellers,
No. 3 St. James' street, London, S. W.

THIS IS THE SEASON OF THE YEAR WHEN THE system should be thoroughly purged of the humors which create disease. There is no purgative or cathartic so mild and efficacious as HELMBOLD'S GRAPE PILLS, causing neither nausea nor griping pains—as is the case with the ordinary cheap patent pills of the day, most of which are composed of calomel or mercury, and carelessly prepared by inexperienced persons. After thoroughly purging the system use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA, the great blood purifier, and they will insure new life, new blood and renewed vigor. Try them.
